

Stirling Juveniles Drop Overtime Game To Norwood Monday Night

Visitors Prove To Be Fast Well Balanced Club — Locals Tire In Late Stages

Stirling Juveniles dropped an overtime game to Norwood in the opening game at the local arena on Monday night before a fair crowd of spectators. The visitors have played several exhibition games with Peterborough teams and showed better condition than the locals who faded badly in the overtime session.

The visitors went on the offensive in the second stanza and rattled the twine behind Brady for four straight markers. Rusaw from Telford, counted the first one at 3:00 and Lockhead tied the score at 5:10. Byer from Smith and Telford, gave the visitors the lead at 8:15 and a minute later Smith added another to give the visitors a 4-2 margin.

Early in the final stanza Lockhead made it 5-2 but the locals put on a thrilling rally to tie the score in regulation time. Midway in the period Austin counted on an assist from McCrory and near the end of regulation time Baker and Peter Heasman scored.

Overtime

The overtime period was all Norwood, who rapped in three quick ones to sew up the contest by a score of 5 to 5.

Large And Enthusiastic Crowd In Attendance — Moccasin Dancing Enjoyed

One of the jolliest events of the Festive Season was the Community Skating Party sponsored by the Stirling Legion on the occasion of the opening of the Skating Rink for the current season.

A happy crowd of close to three hundred children and young people together with a scattering of grown-ups, thoroughly enjoyed the first skating of the season on the excellent sheet of ice.

Once again a portion of the ice was roped off for the use of the very young. This action by those in charge was greatly appreciated by the parents who were introducing their youngsters to the ice for the first time, and was not without its entertaining aspect as well.

Later this portion of the ice surface was used for moccasin dancing and proved an enjoyable innovation.

Music was provided over the P.A. system newly installed by members of the Legion.

The Legion Rink Committee wish to express their gratitude to the many donors of material and time and to all others who helped to have the rink in shape for such a successful opening.

Barn Destroyed Lantern Upset

Three cows were saved from a blazing barn in Brighton Township Sunday evening.

They were rescued by their owner, Walter Coveyoe, who then had to watch his barn containing several tons of hay and grain burn to the ground. No water supply was available to extinguish the blaze and he could not call for help as he had no telephone.

Mr. Coveyoe, who bought the 50-acre farm in the north end of Brighton Township 2½ miles from Warkworth a year ago, was working in the barn when he fell through a floor-board and upset an oil lantern he was carrying. It immediately set fire to some hay and the barn was soon blazing from end to end.

Young Deer Rescued

Officers Davison and Ferguson made a timely rescue of a buck fawn deer from the turbulent waters of the Madawaska River. No definite information is available but a local resident observed the animal as it plunged into the icy stream to evade the pursuit of a dog. Insecure ice with sharp edges lined the banks and the victim was forced to swim over a mile before it found suitable footing. By this time it was so exhausted it was unable to get completely clear of the water and except for its head, lay partly submerged for three hours. After a prolonged search the Officers were able to discover a boat and although it was not quite seaworthy, they were able to cross the river. They were astonished to discover the deer alive and with a little assistance, regained its feet and in a short time was so well recovered, it bounded into the woods nearby.

Tweed New Post Office To Open

It is expected that Tweed post office staff will move to the fine new building, almost completed, at the corner of Colborne and Spring Streets, some time during the month of January. Messrs. C. D. Porritt and his colleagues will be glad to move into larger and more adequate quarters.

Farm Labour And Supplies

The requirements for farm workers in 1955 will probably be slightly higher than in 1954. It is expected, however, that a slightly larger number of workers will be available to agriculture next year so that the supply will bear about the same relationship to the demand as it did in 1954. As usual, there will be a surplus of farm workers this winter, while during periods of peak requirements it is expected that it will again be necessary to move workers to deficit areas.

Prices of farm supplies, fertilizers, pesticides and farm machinery in 1955 should remain at about the levels prevailing in 1954. The supply of these commodities should prove ample to meet farmers' requirements.

You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt; as young as your self-reliance, as old as your fear; as young as your hope, as old as your despair." —J. George Frederick.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

FREE TRANSPORTATION TO ICEFLOES

The problems of old age were solved personally by aged Eskimos who became unable to contribute their share to the food supply. They took to icefloes and died of exposure.

Being more humane, we provide old-age pensions to both rich and poor. Our welfare payments to those who do not need them are so great that we do not provide adequate care for those who become casualties in the battle of life.

No costly research is required to reveal that a minimum standard of health cannot be maintained on the welfare payments made to the needy aged or to the helpless.

A truly humane and honest policy would divert welfare money to the more adequate care of the needy and to the reduction of welfare taxation. If we must go on callously and cynically ignoring dire need, let us be consistent and provide the needy aged with transportation to the icefloes. — The Rural Scene.

WE'RE LOSING TOURISTS

While the weather may have kept a lot of tourists at home this year, Canada must sharpen up its attractions to keep our tourist-take from dwindling further, thinks The Financial Post.

Recent suggestions include improvement of meals and highways. These and a lot of other matters will have to be attended to.

Canada is now getting only about 22% of the U.S. tourist dollar compared with 45% in 1942 while Europe's share has climbed from 2% to 33% in that period.

The tourist business is a very lucrative income we have taken almost for granted in the past years. We can't afford to do so any longer. Now we are competing not with the hash-slinger of northern Wisconsin but with the thoroughly trained chefs in Europe.

THOSE GUARANTEED ANNUAL WAGES

We don't believe for a minute that those labor leaders who are demanding guaranteed annual wages for all regular employees of industry are so blind as to believe that such wages could be paid without reducing the wage rates of all workers.

Nor do we believe that these same leaders would dare suggest that their members accept a cut in their wage rates in order to make guaranteed annual wages possible.

What then have they in mind when they urge their followers to press such demands?

Our guess is that they think the employers, when confronted with such impossible demands, might be frightened into supporting the unions in pressing the government to assume the burden of paying the extra cost that guaranteed annual wages would involve.

This would be the longest step Canada has yet taken towards state socialism. If private industry allows itself to be inveigled into any such position as this, it will be sealing its own doom.

Price And Penalty

Neglect of health may expose us to disease which brings in its train a crushing burden of expense. Preventive attention does not cost nearly so much.

In Canada the cost of health care is substantially shared by all citizens through public health programmes financed out of taxes. Though under our constitution the health of citizens is a provincial government responsibility, the federal government stepped into the picture six years ago with a national programme. As an outcome, thousands of hospital beds have been made available, medical research has expanded, training has been provided for public health workers, and long strides have been made toward control of certain diseases such as tuberculosis, cancer, mental illness, and other miseries that afflict mankind.

Year-End Review Labour Conditions

In a year-end review, Hon. Milton F. Gregg, Minister of Labour, stated that the most encouraging development in the Canadian manpower picture this past summer and fall had been the firming in employment in several industries which last year, and particularly last winter, were cutting down production. The Minister explained that employment trends in various parts of the economy had been quite mixed. Employment in the services, trade, finance, and public utilities industries had moved steadily upward, while employment in manufacturing had declined. The reduced activity in manufacturing had been moderate and had not radiated out and prevented growth in other parts of the economy. In conclusion, Mr. Gregg pointed out that in view of recent developments, such as the higher level of activity in residential construction, more employment in logging and lumbering, the improvement in mining, and the steady growth of employment in the services and trade industries, job opportunities should be somewhat more numerous this winter than a year ago, although offsetting this, of course, will be the continued growth of the labour force.

New Ontario Hydro Manager Frankford Office

Enthusiastic about his recent appointment as Manager of Ontario Hydro's Frankford Rural Operating Area, 35-year-old Bruce G. Servos foresees an era of continuing expansion for the territory he serves. Frankford R.O.A., one of the Commission's largest and most progressive rural areas, is numbered among the 105 R.O.A.s which are playing an important role in the vital agricultural economy of the Province.

For 17 years, until his retirement last August, the Area Manager was Leonard M. Hendrick. Mr. Servos, who was Mr. Hendrick's assistant for nearly two years, is carrying on the former manager's tradition of efficient and courteous service to the district surrounding Trenton, Brighton, Warkworth, Campbellford and Stirling.

Serving some 4,000 customers, of whom 3,600 are rural, the offices of the R.O.A. are located in the Village of Frankford, seven miles south of Stirling on the Trent River. The over 1,400 citizens of Frankford are also served by the R.O.A., which has an office staff of six, a line crew of 17, and one security guard. Three near-by generating stations on the Trent River are administered by Mr. Servos' office, and these are manned by 25 operators. Within Frankford R.O.A. are more than 340 miles of rural line, 150 miles of transmission line, and five sub-stations.

Bruce Servos, who was born in Toronto in 1916 and who graduated as an architectural draftsman from that city's Northern Vocational School, brings a wealth of Hydro experience to his new post. Joining Ontario Hydro in 1938, he started as a draftsman with the Electrical Engineering Distribution Section at Head Office.

In May, 1940, Mr. Servos enlisted with the RCAF as air crew, and served Overseas from February 1941 to January 1943 as navigator in Bomber Command, participating in many night bombing missions over Germany. Promoted to the rank of Squadron Leader, he returned to Canada, and was placed in charge of the RCAF's Ground Instruction School at Fingal, Ontario, and later No. 6 Bombing and Gunnery School at Mountain View.

With his discharge at the end of 1945, Bruce Servos returned to Hydro as Engineer's Assistant in the Electrical Engineering Distribution Section. After Hydro's administrative reorganization in 1948, he was transferred to the Fenelon Falls Area Office as Assistant Superintendent. Two years later, he became Assistant Area Manager at Peterborough. On September 8th, 1953, he was transferred to Frankford R.O.A. as Assistant Area Manager.

Mr. Servos is a past vice-president of Hydro Branch, Canadian Legion No. 277, past president of the RCAF Association No. 428 Wing at Peterborough, and member-at-large of the RCAF Association, Trenton. His hobbies are tennis, swimming and carpentry. In 1933, paddling for the Parkdale Canoe Club, he was a member of the Dominion Junior Champion war canoe team.

IN 1954

Where there was Progress

Throughout the land, Canadians made progress in 1954.

They prospected, staked, drilled and mined; they cleared, ploughed and planted; they fished and they hunted; they planned and constructed; they manufactured, and they bought and sold. And working with Canadians in their ventures from coast to coast — helping with counsel, service and money — was the Bank of Montreal.

In 1954, B of M loans and investments — amounting to some two billion dollars — worked for Canada and Canadians. Wholesaling and retailing enterprises . . . petrochemical, smelting and mining developments of every type and manufacturing in all its phases . . . farms and ranches . . . the grain trade . . . co-operative production and marketing . . . housing developments . . . municipalities . . . churches, hospitals and schools . . . many industries, many organizations, and many people in all walks of life counted on the B of M for counsel and credit.

Canada is on the march today. And moving ahead with the nation are 625 B of M branches from coast to coast, at the service of the men and women who are forging the Canada of tomorrow.

Yes, where there was progress in 1954 . . .

There was the Bank of Montreal

Canada's First Bank . . . "MY BANK" . . . working with Canadian in every walk of life since 1817

IRON ORE FROM UNGAVA . . . brought by rail from these fabulous ore fields to Seven Islands, seaboard terminal of Quebec's great mining project. The B of M was the first to open a full-time banking office at Seven Islands . . . six years before the first shipment of ore last July.

ALUMINUM FROM KITIMAT . . . giant B.C. development, one of the world's biggest industrial undertakings. Constructors of Kitimat shared B of M support. The Bank of Montreal founded the first banking office at Kitimat — in January 1952, when there were but two hundred workmen carving out the settlement with their bull-dozers.

ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY AND POWER PROJECT . . . long discussed and now under way, destined to open the Great Lakes to world shipping, and cement friendship between two great nations. The B of M opened the first banking office at Mille Roches, near Cornwall, Ont., last October for the convenience of seaway workers.

ATOMIC ENERGY AT CHALK RIVER . . . Canadian enterprise in this vital field has made Chalk River a famous name. Nearby, at Deep River, townsite of Defence Industries Limited, the Bank of Montreal opened the first banking office in May, 1949, to serve scientists and workers at the Atomic Energy plant.

OIL — AND GAS — FROM THE RICH WEST . . . The Interprovincial Pipeline speeds the flow of oil from source to market and cuts transportation costs. The B of M assisted in the financing of this great undertaking. And it is equally ready to assist in the plan to pipe gas from western wells to eastern markets.

NEW HOMES FOR CANADIANS . . . When the Government of Canada asked the Chartered Banks to add the making of mortgage loans to their services in order to increase the building of new homes for Canadians, the B of M responded promptly from coast to coast. It made the first mortgage loans on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts alike; it made the first in the Prairie Provinces — the first in Ontario — the first in Quebec. Here was the beginning of a large share of the financing of thousands of new housing units started in Canada under the National Housing Act in 1954.

There's no peace for an honest crook now that John Aylesworth and Frank Peppitt have opened up a detective business of their own. The sparkling comedians have a weakness for satire on anything from sleuthing to soap operas — and they're back on CBC Television this year in a new gala variety show "On Stage." With them are singing emcee George Murray, vocalists Terry Daye, Phyllis Marshall, Wally Koster, the Bill Brady Sextet, Jack Kane's Orchestra, and a host of dancers. "On Stage" will be seen on all television stations in Canada.

Talk To Your Muscles For Restful Sleeping

"Talking to your muscles" is recommended as a sure-fire way to achieve a healthful restful night's sleep in an article in the current issue of Health Magazine, published by the Health League of Canada. The article, entitled "How Do You Sleep," is by Mary Lane Epp, R.N., nursing supervisor at the Bell Clinic, Willowdale, Ontario.

Most sleeping isn't necessarily restful, writes Miss Epp, because people fail to relax while they sleep. Tense muscles are working muscles whether you are asleep or awake, and people who use their beds as a reviewing stand for all their current worries will carry those worries with them throughout the night, even after sleep — of a sort — comes.

Miss Epp's system is as follows: "Lie down flat on your back in a quiet darkened room. Put a pillow under your knees to take the stretching tension out of the big muscles back of your thighs, and have a small pillow under your head if you wish. Now stretch — with your arms at your sides — stretch toward the foot of your bed as if you were trying to touch it. Stretch your legs out straight across the pillow — stretch — then let go all over and take a deep breath. Let your breath out slowly while thinking of sinking into the bed. Then think over and over slowly: 'My legs are heavy, the muscles are letting go and letting go.' Repeat this several times. My back is heavy, the muscles are letting go and letting go (repeat). My shoulders are heavy, the muscles are letting go and letting go (repeat). My head is heavy, the muscles in my neck are letting go and letting go (repeat). My face is relaxed — expressionless — my forehead is smooth, by eyelids are heavy — there is a space between my upper and lower teeth, my tongue is loose in my mouth, my lips together gently (repeat). My arms are heavy, the muscles are letting go and letting go (repeat)."

"The first time you try this nothing happens. Two practice periods a day are necessary for anyone who wants the benefits of relaxation. The first one can be at noon or as soon as you get home from work. Don't think that your poor sleeping will be worse because you sleep in the daytime. Over and over again we have observed that a sleep in the daytime enables a person to go to sleep more easily and to sleep better at night.

"Your second practice period is a must at bedtime. You are not expected to sleep on your back. After a while turn into your customary position, but go on talking to your muscles. Your mind will wander, but bring it back and think of what you are doing. Do not try to go to sleep. As you relax you will drop off to sleep and it will be restful."

"Wheat-Poor" Albertans

How would you like to have $5,000 to $40,000 in the bank and not be able to draw a $5 cheque against it?

That has been the position of thousands of Alberta farmers this Christmas, the only difference being that instead of cash in the bank their funds have been wheat and grain on the farm. Nowadays it is not uncommon to see farmers driving top priced automobiles, but with barely enough ready cash to fill the gas tank.

In spite of wheat surpluses piled up all over the country, and eight to ten years of plenty, many are wheat poor because of commitments made for farm machinery, cars, trucks, new homes and other improvements in their estates.

Many a western farmer has been finding it hard to pay taxes, grocery bills, and machinery instalments, in a situation of embarrassment to which they are not accustomed. Their economic position would be worse if some of them hadn't decided in the last few years to raise a few sheep, pigs and cattle. Sale of their livestock has been keeping many of them solvent, but the farmer who stuck to wheat has been in difficulty.

Millions of dollars worth of wheat are stored on farms all over Alberta. It can be found in granaries, barns, machine sheds, skating rinks, and even in unused school buildings.

Storekeepers in the small towns are caught up in the cash shortage. Their practice extends credit to farmers over periods of months. Payment is made when the crop is harvested and delivered. However, with the present small delivery quotas, farmers have been finding it next to impossible to pay their harvesting bills, to say nothing of the storekeeper. As a result everyone suffers.

Chrysler Corp. Announce A New Appointment

E. C. Row, president and general manager of Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, Monday announced the appointment of C. Allan Foran, as secretary of the corporation.

Mr. Foran joined the corporation in September, 1953 as corporation legal counsel. He became assistant secretary seven months later.

Born in Winnipeg, he was educated at De La Salle Oaklands College, Toronto and later graduated from the University of Toronto after wartime service with the Royal Canadian Air Force. He subsequently enrolled at Osgoode Hall and was later called to the Bar in 1950, engaging in the practice of law in Toronto until joining Chrysler of Canada.

A city that allows its property to degenerate into slums while it extends its boundaries to include new building sites is like a thriftless farmer who allows manure to accumulate behind his stables till he has to move the stables.

Lightning Kills Cattle Near Picton

Lightning struck through a snowstorm near Picton early Thursday of last week, killing two cattle and injuring 10 others in a barn owned by Gordon Bell.

Mr. Bell, dairy farmer owner, said he was in bed when the lightning blew out windows, followed a milking machine line to the stable where a purebred Holstein bull and cow were electrocuted.

A fire was started in the straw and burned itself out after injuring 10 other animals. The barn did not burn.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

ONTARIO FARMERS WIN AT CHICAGO

Ontario farmers who specialized in seed production this year, again won many honours in their respective classes at the recent International Grain and Hay Show, Chicago.

A sample of peas from Northern Ontario won the championship for Roy Goltz, Falkenburg, who also was placed reserve in both the large yellow and small yellow varieties.

Harold Holden, Old Castle, won championship for corn, region 1. In soybeans, Clifford Dale, Glanworth, in Middlesex County, won Reserve championship while in small seeds, a similar honour for Alfalfa seed went to Murray W. Cloverdale, Cayuga, Haldimand County.

In seed oats, eight prizes in a total of 21 in region 1, went to growers in Ontario, with Alex M. Stewart and Son, Alisa Craig and John Haggarty and Son, Alma, in second and third place respectively.

For yellow corn region 1, twelve prizes of a possible sixteen, came to growers in South eastern Ontario, Harold Holden, Old Castle, Hercules Trahan, Painscourt, were second and third. Wm. R. Beattie, Staples, was first in White corn regions 1 and 2.

In red clover, Barclay Dick, Douglas, was second, John Haggarty and Son, Alma, third and Murray W. Cloverdale, fourth.

First prize in Timothy went to Romalone Seed Farm, Westboro, with Myles McMillan, Dalkeith, third and Murdoch Arkinstall, of Dunvegon, fourth. Wm. B. Armstrong & Son, of Inglewood, was second in a class for other grasses.

Ontario growers were also strong in classes for six rowed barley with Raymond Teahon, R.R. 7, St. Mary's, first, and Norman Schmidt, Mildmay, second.

Second for Field Beans went to Jack McKillop, Dutton, and Wm. R. Beattie, Staples, took second in regions 1 and 2, for soybeans, with John Kersan, Blenheim, third; Leonard Clunis, Ridgeway, fourth, and Raymond H. Kemp & Son, Ramsayville, fifth.

In soft winter wheat, Wm. B. Armstrong & Son, Inglewood, was fourth.

PRACTICAL PROGRAMME TO FEATURE SOIL AND CROP MEETING

Farmers across the province will want to set aside a day or two at least in the present month to attend meetings of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association which will be held January 25th to 28th in the Coliseum, Exhibition Park, Toronto.

Arrangements have been made to make sure that topics of discussion will be both timely and practical. For two full days there will be sessions dealing with crops in general and two days will be spent in special sessions for those specializing in registered seed, potatoes and turnips.

W. J. Schneller, Baden, is this year's President. The eighteen directors, responsible for drafting the programme, represent every county and district in the province and are so selected that they represent different phases of farming such as dairy, beef, cash crops, etc. This diversity of interest making the meetings of the Association very worthwhile to the farmer.

This year's general sessions will feature special attention to grassland farming, the theme being, "Aids to Nature." Norman McNabb, of Chatsworth, will outline his five year plan for farm renovation and Lawrence Kerr, Chatham, will speak of his experience in "Building Fertility with Cash Crops." There will be two panel discussions on the "Storage and Preserving of Silage" and "Handling the Water Problem."

This year's gathering will be preceded by the first annual meeting of the Ontario Potato Growers' Association which will be held in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on the afternoon of Monday, January 24th. The following day a full day discussion for potato growers will be held with a number of growers and officials taking part. Among the speakers will be L. W. Pearsall, Director of Marketing, Ottawa, and E. K. Hampson, Hamilton.

Reduced railway rates will be available for those travelling by train. For those who drive, there will be plenty of free parking space. Officials in charge suggest that reservations for overnight accommodations be made as soon as possible.

EGGS AND POULTRY OUTLOOK FOR 1955

Little change is expected in the egg poultry market in 1955 compared with 1954. The egg market will not be stronger in 1955 than in 1954 until at least June, and then may strengthen only if the 1955 hatch is smaller than in 1954.

The combined effects of a record poultry crop, low prices and aggressive merchandising in the United States had a depressing influence on the Canadian poultry meat market in 1954. This situation is not expected to change greatly in 1955 with the result that the Canadian poultry outlook in 1955 is closely linked to that in the United States, where conditions in 1955 are not expected to differ much from those in 1954. Prices for the 1955 turkey crop will be better than in 1954 if producers in Canada and the United States cut back production from 1954 levels. Prices of fowl in 1955, as in 1954, will continue to be greatly influenced by the American fowl market. The outlook for commercial broilers and farm chicken is more dependent on conditions prevailing in Canada than the fowl and turkey outlook and conditions will not likely differ greatly from 1954.

POULTRY PROFIT BY ELIMINATING LOSSES

Whether the operation of a poultry flock is to be a success or a failure financially may depend partly upon the amount of available losses that are permitted to occur. The losses which could be prevented by foresight, vigilance and good management both on the range and in the poultryhouse may well mean the difference between making a fair profit or being "in the red," says L. A. Gnaedinger, Lennoxville Experimental Station, Que.

One still too common cause of serious losses in the early life of the growing flock is coccidiosis, now so widely spread. This disease can be combated by using right from the start one of the sulphamedicated mashers now available. If this precaution is neglected and coccidiosis strikes, it can still be controlled, if caught in time, by treatment with certain of the sulphadiazine.

Another cause of losses from the growing flock, sometimes more serious than realized, are the various predatory animals. Fencing should be kept in good condition and tight to the ground. The use of electric fence in addition affords extra protection against foxes. Killer dogs may scale fences and kill many birds quickly. The best protection from these probably is to shut the birds in, from dusk to morning.

In the adult flock, regular culling and the marketing while still in good flesh, of all birds showing signs of being off their feed or going out of condition, will turn into money many a bird which otherwise will sooner or later gradually waste away to become a total loss. A saving of feed also results.

One of the largest items of expense in the poultry business are the feed bills. And yet much high-priced feed is needlessly lost in a number of ways. Rats and mice permitted to feed and multiply unchecked can do away with amazing amounts of feed. Feeders or feed troughs that are poorly designed or overfilled, permitting the birds to bill food out onto the ground or floor, waste enough feed to shock the poultryman if he but realized the extent of his losses in this manner. Pelleted mash has the advantage over the unpeletted form in that there is little incentive for the birds to pick it over and bill it out in a search for choice morsels.

Another type of avoidable loss on some poultry plants is that of time and labour. For example, too few or too small feeders will necessitate refilling them too frequently. Distributing drinking water by hand is a time-consuming laborious job which in many cases could easily be eliminated by the use of automatic watering devices.

These are a few ways, then, of reducing the losses on a poultry plant; applying preventative and remedial measures against the disease of coccidiosis; protecting the growing flock from predatory animals; constant culling of the flock, both growing and adult; saving feed by the use of adequate feeders not over-filled; the use of labour-saving devices such as automatic waterers. The successful poultryman is carefully applying all of these loss-reducing principles and is constantly on the lookout for more.

The Changing Food Scene

At the beginning of another year it is interesting to stop for a few minutes and consider some of the changes that have been taking place around us. Changes that affect you as a Canadian homemaker. If you do this you will realize that tremendous changes have been taking place in the merchandising of foods — in the foods themselves and in the ways they are sold. Some of these advances are beneficial to those who have little storage space in their homes. Others save time for the woman who is filling the double role of homemaker and wage earner while others might be considered straight progress in making more acceptable foods available to the consumer.

It is so easy to become accustomed to the new that it is hard to realize that foods were not always sold in the same ways as they are today and to appreciate that many of the changes made have meant the establishment of new protective regulations. Take milk for example. It is quite a long time since milk was sold in bulk from a big can. Through the years industry has developed improved methods of milk distribution and our provincial and municipal health authorities have seen to it that this important food which nutritionists list as a daily essential is sold in such a way that the health of those who drink it is safeguarded. So the quart milk bottle replaced the milk can and recently the cardboard carton has to some extent replaced the glass bottle. With this new container more families are buying their daily milk supply from the grocery store. Most of the milk sold today is pasteurized and besides being pasteurized it may be homogenized which means that the fat in the milk is broken up into such small particles that the cream does not rise to the top of the container. Partially skimmed is something rather new in the milk line which is being sold in a number of Canadian centres and reconstituted milk, made from skim milk powder with the addition of cream or unsalted butter, is found in others where not enough fresh milk is produced in the district to supply the local demand.

No matter how many kinds of milk are available you should be able to tell which you are buying for in most provinces a description of the milk — pasteurized, homogenized, skim or whatever it may be is marked on the cardboard container or milk bottle cap. Then there is the milk beverage known as chocolate drink which contains not less than two percent milk fat and finally there are several types of processed milks — evaporated, sweetened condensed and powdered both whole and skimmed. Practically all the evaporated milk made in Canada has vitamin D added to it as indicated by the statement "Vitamin D increased" which is printed on the label of the can. The latest advancement in skim milk powder is the production of a powder which dissolves instantly in water eliminating the necessity of shaking the powder with water to reconstitute it. More could be said about milk and much about the other dairy products — cream, cheese, butter, and ice cream, but other foods warrant some consideration too.

Think of what has been happening to fruit and vegetables. The packaging of these fresh products in sizes to suit changed living conditions has been a progressive step appreciated by homemakers as also has been such improvements as the waxing of turnips to retain their freshness and the washing of some of the other home-grown vegetables. When it comes to canned and frozen fruits and vegetables everyone agrees that the steadily widening range of these products, government graded for quality, is a boon to the Canadian homemaker as she buys her food supplies during the winter months.

There are too the advancements which have been made in the selling of poultry as evidenced by the quantities of eviscerated turkeys in the shops at Christmas time this year. Carefully raised these turkeys were drawn, wrapped, then quickly frozen to keep them in perfect condition until you bought them complete with little metal grade tag guaranteeing their quality. On some of the turkeys the wrappers carried the welcome note that the tendons had been removed. Meats have been keeping apace with other foods and are now being sold in many new ways. The line of smoked meats has been greatly extended and the variety of canned meat products available now vie with that of fruits and vegetables.

Changes there have been and changes there will continue to be in the marketing of Canadian food products. As they occur the alert, competent homemaker will take time to study the changes which affect her personally and will put her knowledge to practical use when buying foods for her family.

Bear Comes Out One Month Early

A short winter is predicted by Chris Chapman, of Trent River, well-known local hunter and trapper.

Mr. Chapman bases his prediction on the fact he saw a black bear that had come out of hibernation a month early. Incidentally, he shot the bear Monday afternoon in McCann's swamp, Seymour township.

Folklore has it that the bear (or groundhog, depending on who's telling the story) comes out of his winter hiding place February 2nd, and decides whether to stay out or go back for a longer snooze.

"Well, I say it's going to be a short winter because this bear came out a month early," said Mr. Chapman.

The 200-pound bear's tracks were noticed Sunday by Elmer McInroy, also of Trent River. He trailed the animal to its den in the swamp and it was shot Monday afternoon by Mr. Chapman.

Angling Through The Ice

Ice fishing is fast growing in popularity. Each year more and more fishermen are heading for the open ice covered lakes with ice chisel and tackle to try their luck. Lake trout, have in the past, been the greatest attraction to ice fishermen, and in some areas still are top on the list. Lake trout are probably the most vulnerable to angling of all the salmonoid species and are becoming scarce in many of our inland lakes. In order to retain this important species of game fish in our local inland water, anglers are urged to return all small lake trout caught in winter angling to the water, since more small trout are taken in winter angling with bait, than are taken by trolling during the summer months.

Evolution

The Sudbury Star in a piece on Family Safety Education in part has this to say: "Safety education is a family problem in which the lessons need to be repeated almost daily to make a lasting impression. Children's minds are so fully occupied with the many things going on around them that they can easily forget the dangers that lurk within their homes as well as on the streets. "Safety conscious children grow up to be safety conscious adults."

ELDERS' SERVICE AT ST. PAUL'S

The service last Sunday evening at St. Paul's United Church was arranged by the Board of Session and was well attended. Nineteen Elders and their ladies took part.

The sermon, preached by Mr. J. L. Good, was inspired by the letter to the Hebrews, its dominating thought was "Faith." In every sense it was a worthy effort, finely worded, deeply spiritual and graciously presented.

The choir was composed of Elders and their ladies. The programme arranged by Mr. R. A. Patterson included an anthem and a solo, the latter by Mr. Harold Hagerman. Mr. Geo. Clarisse, Clerk of Session, conducted the service and led the devotions. The Lessons were read by Mr. Walter Elliott and Mr. Cecil Macklin.

Attend C of C Convention

Messrs. E. D. Ketcheson, President; J. V. Holt and D. Rodgers, attended a convention of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce held in the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, on Thursday and Friday last.

Church Extension Committee Met

A meeting of the United Church Extension Committee of the Belleville Presbytery, United Church of Canada, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin at 2.30 p.m. on January 7th. The following members were in attendance: Rev. L. S. Throop, of Canifford; Mr. Norman Gilroy, of Coe Hill; Rev. J. F. Lane, of Mado; Rev. Kenneth J. Crawford, of Marmora; Rev. A. F. Binnington, of Napanee; Rev. Arthur Packman, of Stirling; Mr. A. C. Twiddy, of Trenton; and Mr. H. C. Martin.

Stirling W.I. Card Party Successful

The first Stirling Women's Institute card party of this season was held on Tuesday night in the Stirling Community Hall and was a big success. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kirkey were in charge and eleven tables enjoyed the social evening. A goodly number attended from Frankford, Wallbridge and River Valley, all helping to make the party a success.

The prizes were awarded as follows: Ladies' high, Bessie Frost; ladies' low, Vera Mitts; gent's high, Mr. Butcher, Frankford, and Sam Kirkey, tied, with the latter winning the draw; gent's low, Ab. Christopher. A bountiful lunch was enjoyed, followed by a social half hour.

Hatton Block Damaged By Fire

Only the valiant efforts of the Stirling Volunteer Fire Brigade, under Fire Chief R. E. Fox, saved extensive property loss on Sunday night when fire broke out in the upstairs apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCabe in the west end of the Hatton Block on Front Street.

The blaze, which is said to have originated in a clothes closet in the McCabe apartment, was detected by worshippers in the Pentecostal Church in the same block, who heard the crackling of the flames and gave the alarm. The firemen were on the scene in a short time but dense smoke hampered their efforts in reaching the source of the outbreak. The flames followed the partitions to the roof and it was only after breaking through the roof that the firemen were able to gain control. The ceiling in the McCabe restaurant was also damaged when the flames ate their way through the floor of the closet above.

The adjoining apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Armstrong was damaged by smoke while the downstairs premises of Irene's Beauty Shop, the Pentecostal Church and the Restaurant suffered heavily from smoke and water. During the fire the invalid mother of Mrs. Armstrong was carried to safety while the equipment in the Beauty Shop and the stock of cigarettes etc. in the restaurant were removed. The piano was also carried out of the Pentecostal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. McCabe and family were in Belleville at the time of the fire's outbreak, and lost a considerable quantity of clothing in the blaze. The damage is estimated at several thousand dollars.

Citizens in general were loud in their praise of the efforts of Fire Chief Fox and the members of the Brigade.

Members Took Oath of Office At 11.00 a.m. — Lengthy Session Followed

Naming of standing committees for the year, making appointments to the various municipal bodies and discussion of routine matters marked the inaugural meeting of Village Council on Monday at which all members were present.

Members of Council took the oath of office at 11 a.m. Monday morning after which Reeve R. K. West gave his inaugural address in which he asked for the co-operation of the Councillors in carrying out the affairs of the Village. WHAT OTHERS SAY!

GOOD LUCK IN ODD
NUMBERS LIE SO HOPEFUL BE AS DAYS GO BY

(Contributed by H. M. Moore)

It was immortal Shakespeare who observed that "good luck lies in odd numbers . . . they say, there is a divinity in odd numbers, either in nativity, chance or death."

Well here we are with a brand new year, a year designated in four numbers, four odd figures, so we shall see what we shall see.

For after all who doesn't worship at the shrine of good luck? Who doesn't fawn when the famous one, Lady Luck, passes by, to grab at her garments to attract attention; who doesn't believe that some time or other er he or she will fall into the lap of good fortune, much money.

We buy tickets on every conceivable thing, we check them to see if they bear odd numbers, thereby that fortune will turn the tables in our favor. Not at all concerned are we that luck has two sides, the good and the bad, and that while the former is much desired, the latter may well be our undoing. And when we are on the subject of luck — "That man is always lucky," one observes, and another counters, "That man is always working." We confuse luck with pluck, we don't seem to be aware that a lucky man is as rare as a white crow, that things unhoped for happen oftener than things we desire. Astrologists point to our lucky day, our lucky birthstone. Numerologists show us our lucky number. And so on.

The odd numbers 1-9-5-5 will undoubtedly be lucky to some people; they will prove most unlucky to other people. That's fate. If its fore-ordained that next year is your lucky year, as plain as that, odd numbers or no odd numbers.

Which of course doesn't prevent us hoping that in the year ahead Shakespeare's point will be proven and life for you and yours will be most enjoyable and bountiful to no end.

WHO FARES BEST

(The Picton Gazette)

Happiness adds and multiplies as we divide it with others. By faithfully following the path of duty, unselfish service leads steadily onward to the richest joys. Any gloom along the way is only a shadow and behind it and within our reach are the things we need most to make us happy. Even sacrifices that bring hardships would be unbearable without them. The most desirable things not only can't be bought, but they can't be given away — they must be taken. Selfishness and prejudice clasp hands to block much that would profit us all, just as generosity and action, united in community service, surmount hurdles and help everyone. Prejudice is our method of transferring our own weaknesses to others; it is our ruse for blaming others rather than ourselves. It is false self-forgiveness. Prejudice is a raft onto which the shipwrecked mind clammers and paddles to safety. But prejudice is tempered by a modern commandment that if we love ourselves wisely, we will, more likely, love our neighbours as ourselves. One can no longer succeed alone; the help of others is necessary for our own personal gain, thus partnership in progress requires reciprocity in service. There is no prospect for our future which isn't hidden in the present, and now is the time to emphasize that he profits most for himself who serves best his neighbour and his community. Only by working together can each one succeed.

FACTS ON PAPER

(Gananoque Reporter)

Over half the world's newspapers were printed on Canadian newsprint in 1954. This record will be maintained this year, according to facts contained in an interesting booklet published by the Newsprint Association of Canada.

This publication, illustrated with colored graphs of studies analysing world newsprint supply and demand trends, shows Canada produced close to six million of the world newsprint production of 11.7 million tons. Expansion in this important industry, one of Canada's top industries, is expected to produce over six million tons in 1955.

A continued growth in world newsprint requirements and in the availability of supply to meet those requirements has occurred through 1954 and is in prospect for 1955, the Association points out. Based on current estimates for 1955 world production and supply will exceed 12 million tons, more than four million tons above pre-war and some five million tons over 1946 levels.

Canada, with a rated capacity five times more than the United States, our biggest customer (80 percent), expects to add 112,000 tons to the 1955 capacity through improvements to existing machines, and new machines and new mills.

An appraisal of the growth potentialities of any industry must start with an examination of its raw material resources, the Association states. Canada's forests are among the most extensive in the world, totaling in area, almost 1.5 million square miles . . . which is more than twice as large as the total forest area of Europe.

The report also points out that the annual crop obtainable from Canadian forests is being increased by the continued application of scientific forestry methods, ranging from improved cutting techniques to better fire, insect and pest control.

All in all, it appears that more and more people throughout the world will be reading words such as these, printed on Canadian newsprint as a result of our extensive resources, manufacturing and research know-how and ability to expand.

CHAMPION OF YOUTH

(Campbellton N.B. Tribune)

We stick up for the present generation. Inherently all children adjust themselves to the age, mode of living, and the times, and probably the percentage which fall by the wayside is not any greater, proportionately, than it was 50 years ago.

Banks Now Lend Mortgage Money

The entry of Canadian banks into the mortgage lending field this year is working out more successfully than anyone — particularly the bankers themselves — dared to hope, writes Vincent Egan in the Financial Post.

The banks have been making government-insured loans on mortgages in earnest for six months. The picture today. The banks have an important and profitable new source of income; homeowners have a new and convenient source of mortgage funds; Canada has substantially more new housing units than it would otherwise have had.

History of The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment

Grim-faced youngsters and older men too, the cream of the manhood of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties "dropped tools" when the war bugles blew in 1939.

From this assortment of farmers, school teachers, clerks, carpenters, office men and laborers there merged the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, a unit that was destined to become one of the crack infantry units of the Canadian Army. Their rural background soon earned for them the nickname "Plowboys" but the name later was used more or less reverently when the glory of their valor and fighting qualities was blazoned on the pages of history.

From the farms and hamlets came these stalwart youngsters eager and ready to do their duty. From the meadows of Maynooth, the wooded levels of Waupoos, from Marmora's hilly country, Stirling's quiet countryside, and the vacation spots of Bancroft and North Hastings they came. From Wellington and Huycke's Point to Point Traverse; from Trenton to Demarestville, Hillier to Bonarlaw, they threaded their way from peaceful pursuit to the path of duty.

Sent Overseas

On December 17th, 1939, they marched away, some of them never to return, with bands playing on the first step of the Great Adventure. In Britain they underwent severe training. In June 1941 the regiment, action at last ahead of it, was sent to France on the now famous foray into German held territory. They were forced to evacuate France during December. It was then they left behind them "somewhere near Brest" the famous metal Indian mascot "Little Chief" which they brought with them from faraway Pictou.

Trained to the highest pitch they "smelled powder" for the first time when they went ashore on a Sicilian beach in the invasion of that island. Many gallant Hasty Pees fell in that action. Many more were wounded. Then on to Italy. At Ortona and the Moro River, they lived up to the superb reputation they gained in Sicily. Steadily they fought and steadily they died. Their bullet-ridden died battle flag flew from shell-blasted trees. In Germany and other parts of Continental Europe, they added lustre to an already brilliant page of history.

Home In October 1945

In October, 1945, they came home, their escutcheon unstained, their battle honours proclaiming the glory of achievement.

But the regiment "did not die" with the sounding of "cease fire." The second battalion (reserve) was formed and many of the regimental veterans maintained their association with their famous unit. They never forgot the battles at Molese, the Sangro and Moro Rivers, the Lere Valley, the Hitler Line, Ronco River, Lamone, Bridgehead, Naviglio Canal and other famous engagements.

Today the second battalion, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, under the command of Lieut. Col. E. S. Fairman, is rated one of the best militia infantry units in this part of Canada.

Its officers, many of them veterans, are keen, alert, well trained. Its men are well-trained, ambitious and boast a splendid esprit de corps. Harmony reigns among all ranks.

Recently the regiment, under new militia organization, absorbed the 9th Anti Tank Regiment, R.C.A., the former Argyll Light Infantry, organized at Belleville over 100 years ago. The Hasty Pees, now the senior militia regiment of the city of Belleville and the immediate district, occupies the spacious Bridge Street Armouries in Belleville. Its companies and platoons are spread over the far-flung area of the two Counties after which the regiment is named.

Modern weapons, expert instructors, ideal conditions and fine camaraderie, make the Hasty Pees a first class unit, one that any young man should be proud to join. While at the moment the unit boasts the largest personnel of any in the area, there is plenty of room for keen ambitious young men in its ranks.

Here the present day youth can learn the rudiments of warfare; the use of modern weapons, the art of leadership and the company and comradeship of similar young men who have the foresight to prepare themselves in event of a national emergency.

It is a good life. The equipment is the best, the food when supplied by the unit is of excellent quality. The officers, non-commissioned officers, and other instructors are well-trained and among the best in the district.

The young men of Stirling and vicinity should avail themselves of a fine opportunity to be taught the qualities and requirements of a soldier. And there is no better place than in the ranks of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

The Canadian woodlands are chiefly owned by the Crown.

British Columbia has the largest accessible stands of coniferous trees.

This Canada of ours — is ours to enjoy at a price — the price of constant alertness.

We cannot take for granted our freedom to worship, to vote, to educate our children, or to order our home life as we please. All these freedoms are ours only as long as we are willing to do everything necessary to maintain and defend them.

All honour then to the Canadian Soldier — the steadfast guardian of all our free institutions. Without men like him, the Canada we love might cease to be.

"Let's make it this Sunday!"

A casual phone call, and "this Sunday" suddenly becomes an extra special Sunday! Whether the call comes from miles away or just around the corner, the invitation seems so much more personal, more inviting, when you hear it over the telephone.

Old and young alike turn to the phone when they're in a hurry. A round-up of the gang, a family reunion, a holiday dinner, a big date — it's faster, more exciting to telephone! And even the blow of bad news can usually be softened by a sympathetic voice. Next to seeing the people you care about is hearing their warm, familiar voices.

River Valley Farm Forum

River Valley Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Carlisle on Monday night, January 10th with thirteen present. The broadcast was on "Fall Fairs, Their Good Points and Faults." Some were against midways and horse racing and others says, "what would a fair be without a good horse race." Some sort of amusement is necessary to draw good crowds, which is needed to be able to put up attractive prizes. A more rigid control of midways was very necessary. More encouragement should be given 4-H Club members to bring more exhibits, by offering better prizes, as the future depends on the young people. Too much finish on some live stock should be in more natural condition, this matter was brought up in a newspaper comment by some exhibitors after last year's Exhibition at Toronto. The primary object of local fairs is to advance agricultural knowledge by showing the best products of the local area produces. The Women's Institutes and school fairs help many to take a real interest but more people could make things better by bringing more exhibits and creating more competition.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I had expected a pen other than mine would seek to express through your columns a word of appreciation to our Postmaster and his staff for the very excellent service the office rendered to us all during the Christmas period.

The unbroken cheerfulness of the year was not missing though the work must have increased tremendously. No irritation with a service the Postmaster and staff may well be complimented on.

I feel sure I am trying to say, though very inadequately, the "thank you" which the whole community would like to have said.

While doing so, it would not be out of order to extend the same thanks to the Stirling Council and Roads Department for the fine service they also have given us in trying to cope with ice and snow in recent weeks. The ice has been beautiful in the moonlight, but something of a hazard in the sunlight. It has been well covered in most places . . . usually I would think while most of us were getting a night's sleep.

I would hope that these servants of the public had reason to know that they are appreciated.

According to the little bit of sand put on the Township roads, Rawdon must be suffering from a shortage of sand. It is a shame to think that our school buses have to travel over roads in the state they are in, loaded with children. It's enough to give the bus drivers heart failure. There have been several crashes and near crashes on the Township roads.

Messrs. Wilfred Spencer and Chas.
Stewart and Mrs. Chas. Stewart, spent a few days last week in Toronto,
where the men attended the Milk Pro-

Mrs. Cora Reid was a recent visitor

Several officers and patrons of present they are working on a new course at Trenton Airport on January 14th and 15th; a Cub Field Day in Havelock; Scout Field Day in boore to be held next August.

Mrs. G. Green Hostess To Bethel Girls' Club

The members of Bethel Girl's Club met on Saturday last at the home of Mrs. G. Green. The Vice-President called the meeting to order, followed by the theme song.

The Worship period opened with a call to worship by Joan Baron, after which the hymn, "God Sees the Little Sparrow Fall," was sung. Donald Hoath read the Scripture Lesson. June Free read a story, and Jean Reid closed with prayer.

During the business period reports were given by the Secretary and Treasurer. Plans were made for a croquet party in the near future.

Barbara Green rendered a piano solo. Linda Sine gave a few selections on her accordion. Jean Reid conducted a Bible quiz, in which everyone took great interest.

Mrs. Green, Barbara and Beverly served a delicious lunch prepared by the hostess. Jean Reid moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for opening her home to the club.

Ridiculous Invitations

How often have you been dared to compete for "getaway" at a red light? It's a specious invitation . . . it is an invitation to damage, injury or death.

The winner's prize is permission to feel — "well, I sure showed him!"

The real loser could be an unwary pedestrian, a third driver, perhaps making a legitimate turn, or perhaps an oncoming vehicle on its own side of the road, being driven carefully.

In other circumstances, the most ardent gambler would shun such ridiculous odds.

According to statistics, the price of milk has gone up less than the average price of most other foodstuffs over the past 15 years.

Unit Story Will Tell How Men Overcame Adversity Author Says

The story of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in World War II was one of spirit triumphing over adversity, of men rising to great heights because they believed in something greater than themselves. Farley Mowat declared in a review of his works.

The author of the regimental history gave an outline of his aims and intentions in setting down for the world to read the story of the famed First Division's Plough Jockeys.

Farley stated that the first draft of the story would be ready in a few weeks for study by the editorial committee. It was his own hope that the book would be put out by the spring of 1955.

The author's forthright address brought a sustained round of applause from those present after he had been thanked by Bill Graydon, association president, who was in the chair.

The peppery, bearded "Squib" recalled that he had been out of uniform for about nine years but he felt a sense that the task of writing the history had been a call back into service. He was resolved to make the book a memorable one and in order to do a good job it was necessary to get back into the mood of the war-time days and relive some of the events. Hence his travels to many of the battlefields last year.

The accumulation of material for the history had been no small task, Farley pointed out, and in this connection he paid high tribute to Fred Goforth who had made a tour through the regimental area collecting letters, diaries, and tape recordings. Indeed, it might be said, he added, that the fact that there was going to be a regimental history, was a result of the work of the padre to a very large extent. He had contributed to laying the foundations more than had anyone else.

"Many regimental histories," continued the author, "have turned out to be cold and lifeless. My determination has been to present a living history. But how to avoid making it stuffy? I decided to deal with the story not purely as a matter of history but as something living and breathing. It would have been far easier just to set down the plain record, but I have not done that. I am making apologies in advance — just telling you the facts . . ."

"During the war, some 5,000 men passed through the regiment like a river, but the regiment lived on. I want to present that entity above and beyond those individuals. It was hard to do. I had to force myself to be honest."

Farley stated bluntly that in telling the story he had to face up to the fact that there had been failures. But when there had been failures, the regiment had fallen credibly and had gone on to rise above reverses and difficulties to days of great triumph.

The suggestion that the regiment had seen failure did not sit too well at first with some of those listening to the author, but he proceeded to show that the presence of failure did not detract from the story — rather it made the rise of the regiment to great heights all the greater. Where the cause of failure lay outside the regiment, he had made this clear, Farley declared.

Reviewing the unit's story from mobilization, the author recalled that it had been a long, hard path its men had followed until the day when they learned what battle was. There had been difficulty in the early days in Britain, but the regiment weathered that and gradually a regimental spirit had been built up.

"The regiment was still green when we hit Sicily," Farley said, "and Nissoria brought our first serious setback. I could gloss it over, but I do not, for in my opinion it makes what follows even greater. When we got into Italy, the regiment was still developing, but still not sure of the nature of war. At Campobasso, the realization was dawning, but we were still not quite sure."

A transformation came at the Moro. That was the first real knowledge of war. That battle which was among the finest hours of the Italian campaign brought to the men of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment something they had not had before. They were no longer just a collection of men. They had been through the valley of death.

The next high spot in the record of the Hasty P's was the Hitler Line. The regiment had never received the credit it deserved for that great Canadian victory, the author declared, in a word, the unit had been "tremendous."

"THIS IS A FULL TIME AGENCY"

This is THE MARK OF A NEW AGE!

That big, bold Sweep-Sight Windshield—curving back to vertical corner posts—is easy-to-see evidence that Chevrolet has cast aside the tradition of the past to start a whole new age of low-cost motoring. It's smarter to look at—safer to look out of—and it's only part of Chevrolet's new outlook for '55!

Yes, Chevrolet brings you a whole new outlook in low-cost motoring for 1955! It's best symbolized, we think, by the sweeping expanse of windshield that widens your view of the road and lets you "see through" the corners for greater safety.

The car with the new idea! Besides widening your view of the road, the Motoramic Chevrolet broadens the whole horizon of the low-priced car. It was built around the idea that a car doesn't have to be high-priced to look, ride and perform like it. A lot of time and sweat went into the building. A lot of old traditions went out the window because they didn't measure up to this daring new concept. Trust Chevrolet to have the resources and the skill—yes, and the courage—to break so completely with the past.

Everything's new in Chevrolet! Everything—from its tubless tires to its lower top. There's new beauty with that long, low "let's go" look! New fun underfoot with the new "Turbo-Fire" V8 and the new "Blue-Flame" six! A new choice of drives—new Overdrive, Super-Smooth Powerglide (extra-cost options), and new standard transmission! A wonderful new ride! New High-Level ventilation! But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here.

Look who's stealing whose thunder!

Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars in more ways than one! Come in, drive it, and you'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet starts a new and exciting age of low-cost motoring. This you're going to love!

which the unit moved briefly to Florence didn't fool anyone, he continued. Then came the Gothic Line. Although great battles were fought and won, the world's attention was focussed on the Western Front and the gallant Eighth Army was becoming a forgotten army.

As a grim fall became a grim winter, there were some factors that made for unpleasantness. Reinforcements were becoming scarcer. There were stories from home about the "zombies." There was growing up on the forgotten front a sense of bitterness. But that did not prevent the men of Canada from doing great deeds. Still men went into the bloody battles of Ravenna, the Senio and the Lamone, tired and dispirited.

The bitter battles of the early winter mightn't have been needed militarily, Farley pointed out, but the forces in Italy had been given the task of holding down 25 German divisions and this task had to be carried out. It was an unpleasant and indeed murderous task to meet those divisions without only about half the German strength.

There is no use denying that the unit reached its lowest ebb. But the regiment rose to great heights at the Lamone and the Naviglio.

How the regiment did it, I'll never know. It would seem to be impossible. That seems to be the most important fact of the regiment's glorious history," the author said emphatically. "We were men of adversity."

The reason for the demonstration of valour at times of difficulty was the spirit of the regiment — something made up of many factors. When the surroundings were grim and the reports from home not too encouraging, when the odds were long, men had to have something greater than themselves to believe in. It was something they could not name specifically. To no small degree, it was the regiment itself.

Farley indicated that he had been able to make good use of the first-hand material that had been made available by former members of the unit. While presenting truly the experiences of the Hastings and Prince Edward in the Italian campaign, the story would reflect the experiences of every unit that was there — something that should help to give the story as wide a readership as possible.

As to the individuals who made up the regiment, the author said that to try to name every one who took a leading part in every operation would be an impossible task. As a result only a few of what might be termed the "giants" of the story would appear by name. It was the author's hope, however, that the book would contain an appendix listing the names of every man who served and noting casualties and decorations.

Under the direction of F. A. Lashley, Secretary-Manager of the Association, a program that promises to be of particular interest to the delegates has been prepared. In addition to panel discussions a series of informative addresses will be presented.

Hon. F. S. Thomas, Minister of Agriculture, will be the guest speaker at a luncheon to be held on February 8th. John F. Fan Ventilation Exhaust fans provide a positive method of ventilation which can be automatically controlled to maintain a desired barn temperature or humidity. With fans, adequate ventilation to remove heat and moisture can be obtained during mild weather when a natural draft system does not ventilate properly. During colder weather the thermostat will stop the exhaust fan if, or when, the barn temperature falls to a minimum desired setting.

For normal fall, winter, and spring ventilation a fan capacity of 100 cubic feet per minute per 1,000 pounds of livestock is needed. For example, if a barn contained 36 cows at 1,000 pounds each, the fan capacity would be 36 x 100 or 3,600 cubic feet of air per minute. One fan is usually sufficient in a barn that contains 40 animals or less. In barns with 50 animals or more it is desirable to have two exhaust fans. Normally, fans are located in the middle of the long wall, and can be placed in any convenient location on the wall. If two fans are used, they may be placed beside each other or some distance apart. Fresh air inlets should be at least 15 feet from the fan. Automatic shutters are required to prevent back drafting when the fan is not operating.

Fans should be wired according to local electrical regulations. Motors should be totally enclosed, and thermostat overload protected. For direct drive units, use a 1,725 r.p.m. motor. A reverse action thermostat is required to control an exhaust fan. Thermostats are normally placed a foot below the ceiling in the middle of the stable.

Further information on ventilation by fans is contained in Publication 859, "Principles of Barn Ventilation," obtainable from Information Service, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Fresh Flavoured Fruit Pancakes

Cheer up, mother! There'll be no sign of a breakfast "appetite lag" when family members get snatches of pancake aroma emanating from your kitchen. With easy-to-use, packaged mixes, conveniently made at home or bought at the store, there's no bother to beating up the batter. Call them what you will — pancakes, griddle cakes, or hot cakes. As main dishes, desserts or breakfast specials there are infinite possibilities for variation. A stack of fruit pancakes, especially, make a flavorful addition to that later Sunday morning breakfast or brunch. Most welcome will be a warm butter maple syrup to pour over and of course, extra pats of butter should be handy for there's nothing so good as the fine flavor of butter, one of our important dairy foods, to top off this family favorite.

To the dry pancake mix we blend in milk and melted butter for the freshness and flavor appeal that only dairy foods can give. Ready in a hurry will be a stack of crispy, golden brown pancakes just waiting to be — well you know what happens.

Any thoughts as to the kind of fruit to blend in? Crushed pineapple, well drained, coarsely ground raw cranberries, or chopped raw apple would be crisp additions. Other interesting variations might be crumbled cooked bacon, minced ham or whole kernel corn sprinkled over the plain batter. Picture a delicious pile of pancakes with a buttery syrup dripping over the edges — doesn't it melt in your mouth!

Fruit Pancakes (Makes Four Servings)

1½ cups pancake mix
1½ cups milk
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup melted butter
¾ cup raw or drained, canned fruit

Measure pancake mix into a bowl. Combine milk, egg and butter and pour into pancake mix. Stir gently, until batter is just smooth. Stir in fruit. Pour batter from a pitcher onto the greased hot griddle, and spread the cakes lightly with the back of a spoon into circles. Cook on one side until the top is puffed and full of bubbles and the underside is golden brown. Turn, and cook until golden brown on the other side. Serve immediately with plenty of butter and syrup.

NOTE: 1. Drained, crushed pineapple, chopped raw apple or coarsely ground raw cranberries may be added to the batter.

2. Delicious pancakes may also be made by adding in place of the fruit, 1 cup whole kernel corn, or ½ cup crumbled cooked bacon, or 1 cup of minced ham.

Cornmeal Pancakes (Makes Four Servings)

1½ cups pancake mix
½ cup yellow cornmeal
1½ cups milk
1 egg, well beaten
1-3 cup melted butter

Measure pancake mix into a bowl and mix with cornmeal. Combine milk, egg and butter and pour into pancake mix. Stir gently until batter is just smooth. Then cook according to Fruit Pancake Recipe. Serve hot with butter, syrup, or tomatoes.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR CARNIVAL

Plans are now complete for the Stirling Legion's Annual Ice Carnival, to be held at Stirling Arena on Thursday, January 27th. With a view to increased participation by as large a number as is possible, the ice will be open for skating to a much greater extent than in previous years.

The evening will begin at 7.30 p.m. when the ice will be open to everyone in fancy dress for skating and this will continue until 8.45 p.m. During this time the judging for prizes in the following classes will take place. Best dressed girl, best dressed boy, best dressed lady, best couple, best comic, oldest and youngest skater and special prizes for performers in the "Roped-off Corner."

Broomball between Stirling Rotary and Legion teams will follow and should provide some good clean fun for the spectators.

Pee Wee Hockey Game

An exhibition hockey game between two Stirling Pee Wee teams of two fifteen minute periods with no waiting, will be next on the program. In putting the spotlight on the Pee Wees this year the management has in mind the thrill of competing before a good crowd of spectators, which these youngsters could get in no other way; and also the encouragement of those who will be our teams of the future. This should be fun and worth seeing.

Immediately following the game, the ice will be open to all who wish to skate and distribution of favours and novelties will help to complete the evening's fun.

92nd Anniversary

Congratulations are extended Mrs. Rebecca Sine, of this village, who will observe the 92nd anniversary of her birthday, Saturday, January 22nd. Despite her years, Mrs. Sine enjoys company in an earnest prayer for the New Year. All joined in singing the hymn, "At Thy Feet Our God and Father," with Mrs. Vernon Matthews at the piano. The Scripture Lesson from Ephesians, chapter 4, verses 1 to 13, was read by Mrs. A. O. Dalrymple. Each of us is given different gifts which we should use to further the Kingdom of God on earth. We should strive for the unity of the spirit as one family in Christ. We should avoid all dissensions and work to accomplish our motto, "The World For Christ."

We should strive for the unity of the spirit as one family in Christ. We should avoid all dissensions and work to accomplish our motto, "The World For Christ."

Mrs. E. Fox conducted the roll call. For the new year the word "Faith" was used. Mrs. Fox read the minutes of the last meeting and a list of the shut-in members to whom Christmas cards were sent. The offering was taken by Mrs. R. A. Hermiston after which the doxology was sung.

Mrs. E. Hoard gave a splendid reading on "The New Year." What have we to bring to the new year that will enable us to live lives that will be an example to everyone. Mrs. O. Clapper sang a solo, "Do You Ever Feel Down Hearted," which had a real meaning.

The topic on "The New Year," which had been prepared by Mrs. C. Farney, was read by Mrs. Don Farney. The past year with its joys and sorrows is gone pasteur our lives. With the realization of all that has been done for us, we should rise with new determination to give of our very best to

Interesting Services Held Sunday At St. Paul's

Four hundred and fifty miles north of Sundbry, and fifty miles north of Lake Superior is what is known as the coldest place in Canada. It is not really so, though it is cold enough. The alleged "coldest" is due to the fact that R. G. Mealey sends in a weather report every hour from that place. One hundred and twenty miles east of White River, is the mining town of seventy families, Renabie; it is a fifteen mile walk or ride through the bush. Twenty miles west of White River is Regan, a lumber camp of twelve or fourteen houses. In telling his story of Mission Work to a full church, Paul Packman, on Sunday morning, caught the imagination of all. For nine months he covered these places for the Home Mission Board, where he preached, visited, formed a fine Scout Group and a Married Couples Club, and so accounted for some of the money you good folk gave for such labour.

Married Couples Evening Service

In the evening the Married Couples of St. Paul's, who were responsible for the service, must have been greatly cheered by a fine number of folk in the congregation.

The address was given by Mr. Allan Francis, who, during a splendidly arranged discourse, spoke on "This Grand New World." Allan metaphysical and scientific in temper, pointed out that from moment to moment the world changes, it is never twice the same, and no two persons see it the same. Working from the particular to the general, he showed how the cumulative effect of this work of change reaches out to the Communal, National and International life.

He went on to illustrate the need for Diversity of Interest and justified the establishing of the "Ball and Chain Club" as an opportunity for all young married couples to do all they can on the community level for the shaping and guiding of this new world. "It is up to us," he said, "to maintain certain principles. The Club is, therefore not merely a social club, but an instrument for good along the lines of common interests," concluded the speaker.

A solo by Mr. Ted Reynolds, "You Will Not Pass This Way Again," beautifully rendered, was greatly enjoyed; as was the Anthem by a choir formed by members of the Club. The Lessons were read by Mr. Wm. Wilkins and Mr. Wm. Brown. The evening service was a delight to all, deeply devotional and inspiring.

Later the Club entertained the congregation at a Fellowship hour and lunch was served by the ladies.

News Omitted

Owing to a last minute rush of advertising, a number of news budgets have been omitted, and will appear in next week's edition.

Splendid Reports Heard On Activities of Organizations — New Board Members

Satisfactory reports from all departments combined to give the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church one of the finest financial statements ever presented at the annual meeting, which was held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday night of last week. Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. W. H. V. Walker. Don Farney, Chairman of the Board of Managers, presided over the business portion of the meeting and H. R. Tompkins acted as Secretary.

The report of the Session expressed the deepest sympathy to the families bereaved during the year and paid tribute to all those who assisted in the Centennial celebration held in October last. The appreciation of the Session was also tendered the different organizations for their co-operation in the work of the Church.

The report of Treasurer Harper Rollins was a highlight and showed the church free of all indebtedness. Church giving during the year were good and of special significance was the generous contribution of nearly $1500.00 made by the congregation at the Annual Anniversary Services. A substantial balance was also reported by Mr. Rollins.

Other encouraging reports were heard from the Ladies' Aid, W.M.S., Sunday School, Choir, Mission Band, and St. Andrew's Club.

Board of Managers

In the election of officers Messrs. E. Cain, O. Clapper and K. Ray were chosen as members of the Board of Managers for three years.

James Johnston was appointed Superintendent of the Sunday School.

Mr. A. O. Dalrymple voiced the appreciation of the congregation to Rev. and Mrs. Walker for their high qualities of leadership and untiring efforts on behalf of St. Andrew's during the year. Rev. Walker in reply voiced the appreciation of Mrs. Walker and himself for the loyalty and co-operation extended him by the congregation.

ANNE HIRST

Your Family Counselor

"Why are wives so selfish with their husbands, Anne Hirst? Why won't they let the men have a little fun without raising such a fuss? If a wife can't hold her husband, why shouldn't some other girl try to get him? It's an exciting game — and after all, his wife had her chance!"

So writes a young woman nearly 30 who has been dating a married man.

Now his wife has found out. "I called her up," continues the writer, "and told her it wasn't my fault. If he'd rather be with her, he'd stay home. . . . So now he is trying to keep her from leaving him — and he won't date me any more."

"Why did she have to spoil our fun?"

WHAT PRICE HONOR?

It is hard for decent women to realize how brazen some others are. They are out to get their man, and they don't care who gets hurt in the process. They lure him with all their physical charm; they appeal to his animal instincts and weave about him an emotional web against which even his sense of guilt cannot struggle. The very fact that he belongs to another woman adds zest to the conquest; as this writer says, "It's an exciting game."

Which recalls one wife I learned of whose husband had been playing around for quite a while. Finally she visited his current inamorata; "I came here," she told me, "to ask you why you want my husband. Why anybody would, is beyond me. He cannot hurt me any more, but he has bored me for years. Take him, and good riddance." — and more to the same effect. . . . Perhaps my readers can guess the end. Once the girl heard that his wife did not want him, neither did she. The girl who deliberately wins a man from his wife has a short satisfaction. The day comes when he sees through her machinations; he despises her and himself. On that day, he is through.

TO "LONELY NOW": Your code is not one to be proud of. With your eyes open, you would steal a man from his wife, a father from his children. A man may weaken for a while — but which of you women has won out? Honor and loyalty and right thinking have not vanished from mankind. Nothing I say will persuade you that you were playing a losing hand. Why pursue a game you cannot win?

CHIDES ANNE HIRST

"Dear Anne Hirst: Your column has a vast influence on other people than those who write you, readers who have problems similar to those you answer. I wonder if you would not do more good if you were less sympathetic with the writers? I think you could arouse in them more soul-searching and self-analysis than you do. Siding with them only makes them worse.

"Human relations always have two viewpoints. You get one, accept it as fact, and sympathize. This tends to confirm the writer's point of view instead of helping her amend it. More often than not you are accepting half-truths, or truths lifted out of their proper perspective. Anyone with a grievance cannot see clearly.

"Think of all your other readers, too. You have an incalculable opportunity to do far-reaching good. Are you using it?"

M.R.

• Thank you for your opinion. It has merit. My first duty, however, is to help those who appeal to me. Each letter is accepted as being honest, and after 20-odd years of receiving them one learns to read between the lines.

• One can sympathize with a troubled person without agreeing with her. If she learns I am sorry for her plight she is more apt to act on the accompanying advice.

• I do not generalize. I have no set solution for what you might call Case B-221, for instance. Each problem is considered separately, temperament, circumstances, background are all weighed and all influence my reply. If readers who never write me are helped too, I am grateful; if they, like you, criticize my approach, I appreciate their interest. One is never too old to learn.

• It would be interesting to know whether other readers agree with your comment.

If you are tempted to date another woman's husband, remember the Golden Rule you learned as a child. It still obtains. . . . Anne Hirst's long knowledge of humanity's frailties and strengths can be helpful. Write her at Box 1, 123 Eighteenth St., New Toronto, Ont.

Upside-Down Bananas

Bananas grow in great bunches. When first you see such a bunch hanging from a banana tree, you may think that the whole bunch has been turned topsy turvy. Instead of pointing toward the ground, each banana points upward so that the bunch looks as though it had been turned upside down. The bunch is cut from the tree while the bananas are still green, for if they were allowed to ripen on the tree the skin would break open and insects would crawl in upon the fruit, spoiling it for us. Fortunately, bananas ripen perfectly at room temperatures.

Modern Etiquette

Q. I recently applied for employment and gave the three references requested. Someone has told me since that this was a rude thing to do without first asking permission to use those names. Is that correct?

A. Ordinarily, you should ask permission first. But if time does not allow this, you should inform those persons that you took the liberty of using their names as reference.

Q. Is it proper for the bridegroom to give his bride something for the home as his wedding gift?

A. This is not customary. His special gift to her should be something for her own personal adornment—usually jewelry of some kind.

Q. Should the candles on the dinner table be lighted after the guests have seated themselves?

A. No; they should be lighted immediately before dinner is announced.

Q. What are the duties of the maid-of-honor while the marriage ceremony is taking place?

A. She stands nearest the bride, takes her bouquet or prayer book while the ring is being put on, returning them at the proper time, and arranges the bride's train when she turns from the altar to proceed up the aisle after the ceremony.

Q. Is it obligatory to reply to letters of condolence?

A. Yes; send brief letters of thanks to everyone who has sent flowers or personal letters.

Q. Is it permissible to sip water while one has food in one's mouth?

A. This is considered very bad manners.

Q. I have been invited by a boy to attend a fraternity dance, and he has made reservations for me in the hotel in that town. He has offered to pay the bill, but my mother says this is wrong. What is correct?

A. You pay both your traveling and hotel expenses. Any entertainment expenses during your visit, of course, are paid by your escort.

Q. Is it proper to send out wedding invitations and announcements in the name of the bride's brother, if their parents are dead?

A. Yes; this is quite often done.

Q. Should the parents of a child reprimand him if he misbehaves at the dinner table in the presence of guests?

A. It is better not. Either the father or mother should quietly take the child away from the table. He should not be scolded or punished in the presence of the guests—but neither should the misbehavior be ignored.

Louis Bromfield, author, farmer, naturalist and owner of the famous Malabar Farms at Mansfield, Ohio, is selling his herd of Holstein cows because he finds dairy farming no longer profitable. Mr. Bromfield says that almost any type of farming pays off better than milking cows and that if the present trend continues, more farmers will realize it and there is liable to be a shortage of good, clean milk within a couple of years. In his area farmers are getting seven cents a quart for milk that sells at twenty-two cents. Well, Mr. Bromfield isn't the only one that has made that discovery. Plenty of other farmers are of the same opinion. The trouble is, unlike the owner of Malabar Farms, there isn't much they can afford to do about it. Dairy farming may no longer be actually profitable but if a farmer can only break even he has at least got something to live on.

Another little news-item I read last week was quite significant. It related to rising unemployment figures and said this was no surprise to farm economists because once the farm income shows a serious decrease, trade and industry is bound to suffer. Less farm income equals less buying power, less articles that need to be manufactured—and, less employment. A logical sequence, isn't it—especially since farmers are still the largest buying group in the country?

The trouble is farm incomes fluctuate to such an extent that very often the average farmer doesn't realize how badly his income is reduced until it is too late to do much about it. But sometime there will be a general day of reckoning—and it won't be a happy occasion. The good old belt will come in for a little tightening once again and maybe it won't do us any harm either. Easy come, easy go, isn't always a state to be desired. As a direct contradiction to what I have just written we shall probably hear that a record volume of Christmas sales

Walnut Buttermilk Loaf

Mix and sift twice, then sift into a bowl, 2½ c. once-sifted pastry flour (or 2¼ c. once-sifted all-purpose flour), 2 tps. Magic Baking Powder, ½ tsp. baking soda, 1½ tps. salt, ½ tsp. ground mace. Mix in ¾ c. lightly-packed brown sugar, ½ c. rolled oats and 1 c. broken walnuts. Combine 1 well-beaten egg, 1 c. buttermilk, 2 tps. grated orange rind, 1 tsp. vanilla and 5 tbs. shortening, melted. Make a well in dry ingredients and add liquids; mix lightly. Turn into a loaf pan (4½" x 8½") which has been greased and lined with greased paper. Bake in a rather slow oven, 325°, about 1 hour. Serve cold, thinly sliced and lightly buttered.

Always Dependable

has again been chalked up in retail stores. Quite confusing, isn't it?

In the meantime there are dozens of ways in which service charges have been increased during the post-war period of expansion and prosperity. There are inspectors for this, that and the other, unheard of twenty-five years ago. Every new inspection department, federal, provincial and county, gives someone a job and increases cost of production. Some are necessary, some seem to be quite superfluous. Some inspectors do a good job, others are over-officious.

Even the postal department has inspectors running around the country making sure that the names of rural boxholders are painted on their mail-boxes. Such identification is an excellent idea but why an inspector? Seems to me inspection into other branches of the postal service would be more appreciated so that it wouldn't sometimes take three or four days for a letter to come thirty or forty miles.

Coming back to rural mail-boxes. We got into trouble ourselves because we have our name plate—illuminated—on the gate post instead of the mailbox. We obeyed the spirit of the law but not the letter, in that we provided identification of our abode but did not paint our name on both sides of the mailbox as required by law, so of course we are liable to have our mail service suspended. Our reason for doing it the way we did? Well, since we bought a large mailbox it has had the post knocked off three times, holes shot through it by hunters, the box several times removed by Hallowe'en pranksters, used as a nesting place by starlings, backed into by passing motorists, and clipped off by snowploughs and graders. Maybe we have a little more mail-box trouble than the rest of the people on our highway because it so happens that our laneway is the only one for half-a-mile without a grade so it comes in very handy for motorists looking for a place in which to turn. Of course if they happen to turn short and back into our mailbox, what does it matter? Another dent or two in a battered mailbox won't make any difference. Just the other day I went down to put a letter in the box and found yet another car had hit it, jamming the sides in so that the box wouldn't open. With these various conditions in mind when we acquired a name-plate, we thought it would be less likely to come to grief a little piece back from the mailbox. But apparently that doesn't satisfy the inspector of rural services. We think it is just another case of quibbling at straws. If we had a legitimate complaint to make to the postal department—which could have been done many times in the past—how much attention would it receive? Most of our mail-carriers have been good men—we have no complaints on that score. They have a difficult job these days and we appreciate the service they give.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks Hostess To River Valley Women's Institute

Mrs. Gerald Brooks was hostess on Thursday, January 13th for the postponed meeting of River Valley Women's Institute, with twenty-three ladies and several children in attendance. The ladies wore a variety of old fashioned clothes, hats, shawls, frilled dresses, Persian lamb coats, etc.

The President opened the meeting and Mrs. J. L. Donohoe gave a full financial report and read letters of thanks. All were invited to attend Achievement Day on February 26th. The Friendship Link Secretary, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, gave a detailed account of her correspondence and parcels of tea that she had forwarded to Abbot's Leigh W.I. in Bristol, England, and read two special letters. The group in England sent as their gift a leather bound visitor's book.

Thanks was extended to all who had convened parties and donated prizes. Plans were made for a birthday party and a banquet. Mrs. John Kane remitted eleven dollars from the Penny Bags. The February hostess will be Mrs. Claude Tucker, with Mrs. Don Donohoe and Mrs. Edward Heasman conveners for "Home Economics and Health."

Historical Research

The programme on "Historical Research" was convened by Mrs. Roy Bush and Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh. The Tweedsmuir Book and the Rosebush History Books were displayed.

The former presided at a table centred with an old fashioned coal-oil lamp and she wore a long white apron, a stylish bonnet and cape and carried her papers in an old-fashioned valise. Mrs. Phil Conley presided at the piano and all sang, "When You And I Were Young Maggie."

Mrs. Bush gave a very interesting paper on the subject and pointed out why some of the older articles should be cherished. River Valley is not quite two hundred years old and the Rosebush pioneers settled along the Trent River and seven generations have lived on that land. Five ladies in the audience were born in River Valley.

Mrs. George Heasman sang an appropriate old fashioned number, with Mrs. Harry Morrow as accompanist. Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh, wearing a quaint costume of older days, gave a humorous story of "Life at River Valley 150 Years Ago."

Mrs. Percy MacMullen read an article from the Tweedsmuir Book re the winning of the Union Jack by S.S. No. 19, about 1893, and the Coronation Ceremony held in honour of Queen Elizabeth II at the school house. Mrs. Glenn Bush read from the same book a detailed description of the school and explained how it was arranged for funerals and church services. The article also told how the good old organ was replaced with a piano. The coal oil lamps were exchanged for Aladdin lamps and finally hydro was installed. An article written by the late Janet Sager, vividly pictured the four schools at River Valley and where they had been built. The present structure was erected in 1881 at a cost of $925.00.

Mrs. Percy Utman read a very interesting article on photography. She displayed tintype pictures, old family albums, post cards, camera snaps and the present day flash camera with coloured pictures.

Mrs. Ed. Heasman gave a detailed description of women's hats. She modelled "A Merry Widow Hat", presumably fifty years old and spoke briefly about the various headgear in the audience.

Mrs. S. McIntosh was hostess for an institute presumably held in River Valley forty-five years ago to date of its organization. Mrs. Ernest Carr was president and Mrs. J. L. Donohoe read the first minutes, dated October 1910. In that programme, a timely paper entitled "The Hurry, Worry and Waste of Modern Housekeeping" was given. The 1910 roll of membership was read and there was only one lady in the 1955 audience, who was on that list.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the hostess, programme conveners, lunch committee and all who had assisted with their old-fashioned outfits.

Refreshments were served and a bit of reminiscing done. The various displays and articles created an interest in preserving choice articles from the past for future generations.

Josephine Koffend Weds A. Walker

Miss Josephine Claire Koffend and Andrew George Walker were wed by candlelight Dec. 23 in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, St. Lambert, Que., by the bride's father, Rev. Joseph Koffend, and formerly of Stirling. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, of St. Lambert, Que.

The church was decorated with yellow, brown and white pompons for the ceremony, during which the bride's brother, Robert, played the organ and Mrs. Barbara Murdoch was soloist.

Attended by Miss Cathy Lehr, the bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Rev. R. Koffend, of Toronto. She wore a bridal gown of brocaded satin, waltz length, having a low rounded neckline with long sleeves. A tiara held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses.

Miss Lehr wore a waltz length dress of tulle over taffeta in shaded tulle. A small velvet bandeau in royal blue was worn and she carried a semi-casade bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Koffend, was in a shot grey taffeta dress with pale blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Walker, the bridegroom's mother, wore navy blue crepe with navy accessories and corsage of red carnations.

James Walker attended his brother as bestman and guests were placed by Fred McLean.

The reception was held at Le Bo-Cage in St. Lambert where Christmas fern, red roses and white carnations were used to decorate. Later, the couple left by car for Quebec City. Mrs. Walker wore a grey blue cashmere wool suit with pink hat and gloves and navy shoes and purse for the trip. Her top coat was charcoal grey. They will live in St. Lambert.

Harmony Thimble Club Meets

The Harmony Thimble 4H Club held their meeting in the Agricultural Board Room, with an attendance of twelve. This being the first meeting, in the new year, the attendance showed that each member was most interested in the work.

Marlene Moorcroft presided. The roll was called and was answered with the showing of blouse patterns chosen and materials.

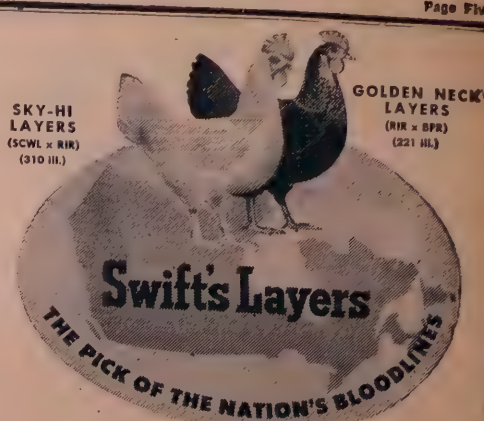

In the absence of the secretary for part of the meeting, the president read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The president expressed her pleasure at having Patricia present again, and the good attendance. A nice welcome was given to Miss Faye Irvine, Home Economist.

The next meeting will be held after four o'clock, on January 18th in the Agricultural Board room. The Club treasurer, Jeanette Ayhart, took up the collection, amounting to $1.20.

Mrs. P. Bronson, the leader of the Club, asked the girls to all have the materials shrunk, and lines straight in readiness for cutting out at the next meeting, when the roll call will be, "What I Have Learned About My Pattern".

Miss Irvine announced the date of the Achievement Day, which is early than was planned upon, and expressed the hope that each Club would adjust their time and work to comply with this date. She explained how to go about the judging. Each girl will wear her blouse that day, when they are finished judging. Miss Irvine handed out various coloured material and each girl was asked to make up an ensemble in harmonizing colours. Later these were discussed. This was followed by explaining the charts for the Senior and Junior girls. She then demonstrated the cutting out of material, the measuring of certain Mrs. Ross Jeffs Hostess To Mount Pleasant W.M.S.

The January meeting of Mount Pleasant, Rawdon, Woman's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Ross Jeffs on January 12th with sixteen members and four visitors in attendance.

The president opened with "A New Year Thought" and read an article from "Missionaries Reporting", about our missionary for prayer, Miss V. Kathleen Methers, nurse at Indore Hospital in India.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave her report and, following routine business, the yearly reports were given by the various secretaries. In 1954, there were six life and twenty-two annual members and one removal. Twelve meetings were held with an average of sixteen. Eighty adult visitors also attended. Alice Jeffs, Florence MacMullen and Nettie Potts attended all twelve meetings. All meetings were reported in two newspapers, as were meetings of the Mission Band. The treasurer remitted $243.88 and the corresponding secretary sent seven letters of sympathy. Miss Ruth Linn reported $117.91 remitted for Mission Band. They have thirty-three annual members and six honorary members. Mrs. James Hoard reported sixty-six dollars remitted for Baby Band.

The allocation of three hundred dollars was exceeded by $127.79 for "Building Advance". All money was contributed systematically. The Supply Secretary has shipped two parcels and sent five dollars to help send overseas parcels. Two hundred and eighty-three home calls and forty-three hospital calls were made during 1954 by the members, a big increase over the previous year. Eleven subscribed to "Missionary Monthly" and thirteen to "World Friends".

Rev. W. G. Fletcher installed the 1955 slate of officers. Jean Jeffs gathered the offering and the corresponding secretary dedicated it.

Mrs. Eric Summers presided over the programme which Mrs. Hoard had prepared. Miss Ruth Linn officiated at the piano and all sang "God of Mercy". The Worship was based on "Evangelism" and the Bible passages were read by Mrs. E. Richardson, Mrs. Grant Hubble, Mrs. James Hoard and Miss Ruth Linn. Mrs. W. G. Fletcher gave the Devotional paper. Mrs. Carleton Potts and Mrs. William McAdam sang "For You I Am Praying". Mrs. Roy Thrasher outlined, "The Struggle of Men's Minds in India". This chapter vividly pictures how the various faiths of India have influenced the lives of the people. Christianity stands above all other religions and claims "A Christ, Who is the Son of God".

The service closed with a hymn and prayer and three ladies paid their fees; after which the hostess served homemade candy.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Even the proximity of death and disaster from overhanging black clouds of Armageddon cannot completely wipe out an inborn love of sport. For this dips down deep into the roots of man. Last summer we saw one of the finest examples of the fashion in which sport can set aside the terrors that may suddenly plunge a country into chaos, when all of Europe outside the Iron Curtain practically went berserk in celebration of West Germany's 3-2 victory over Hungary for the world soccer championship.

Hungary's team from behind the Iron Curtain hadn't been beaten in four years. The Hungarians were regarded as a certainty to win again. Early in the going they led 2-0, which in soccer is tantamount to a 4-0 lead in hockey. But the West Germans rallied and eked out a 3-2 triumph. An Associated Press story from Frankfurt declared the reaction was "like the World's Series, a heavyweight championship and the Kentucky Derby rolled into one."

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer sent a congratulatory telegram to the team. Theodor Heuss, President of West Germany, announced that a silver laurel-leaf medal awaited each member of the team upon arrival home. On their return, the conquering heroes of the soccer field were given a reception of which royalty wouldn't be ashamed.

Perhaps this outburst of enthusiasm was promoted by the fact that a team from behind the Iron Curtain, an arrogant, unbeaten favorite, had been plunged into defeat by a team that represented freedom. Perhaps it was the traditional reaction that accompanies victory for the underdog. But whatever political significance may have attached to the result, it still was a tremendous tribute to the deep-rooted appeal of sport.

Here are the West Germans and the Hungarians, both practically sitting on the H-bomb. Whatever their political philosophies, these people have had a rough time for generations back. For them, it has almost always been war, or threat of war.

If anybody should be nervous, continental Europeans are the ones. Yet they declare a holiday with complete equanimity when a soccer team wins a critical game, and there is dancing in the streets with the not-too-distant threat forgotten, temporarily at least, as sport enthusiasm chases away the nightmare of an uncertain future.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Hockey Should Be Peaceful Now

An era of hockey is about to end.

Feb. 1 of this year will be the date. At that time J. Conn Smythe will retire as president and managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs. He was preceded in retirement on Sept. 30 by Arthur H. Ross, vice president and general manager of the Boston Bruins.

They were next to the last of the old guard of hockey. In the early days of the National Hockey League there were many other dominating individuals such as Col. John S. Hammond and Lester Patrick of the Rangers; James Norris, Sr., and Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings; Charles F. Adams of the Bruins; Jimmy Strachan of the defunct Montreal Maroons; Leo Dandurand and Cecil Hart of Canadiens; Maj. Fred McLaughlin of the Chicago Black Hawks; William V. Dwyer of the New York Americans and Tom Gorman, leader at times, of the Americans, Maroons and Chicago, writes Webb Morse, Sports Editor of The Christian Science Monitor.

When Smythe retires only Jack Adams, general manager of the Red Wings of Detroit, will remain. The era will be at an end because there will be none left to fight with Adams. It used to be that the above-mentioned names were as prominent in the hockey news as the games and players.

It took very little, and sometimes only imagination, for one or all of these esteemed gentlemen to drop their cloaks of propriety and verbally storm the bastions of hockey dignity. Feuds, real and fancied, were frequently invented against one another to make headlines in press and radio.

Probably the greatest purveyors of public attention were Ross and Smythe, generally between the two. Not far behind in the art of commanding notice were Charley Adams, Colonel Hammond, Lester Patrick, Major McLaughlin, Tommy Gorman and Cecil Hart.

One needed but a question or a hint to anyone of these hardened old characters and they would fire away at anyone or all of their fellow league members. For years the then league president, Frank Calder, a mild-mannered little man, was constantly in the role of peace-maker. It reached such heights in later years that owners and members of the board of governors were warned to call a halt or face imposing fines.

Possibly the most spectacular stunt of the times was the night Conn Smythe appeared at a Bruins-Leafs hockey game in Boston Garden arrayed in full dress of top hat and tails. Another was the night in Ottawa at a play-off game a Bruin player, Billy Coutu, assaulted Referee Jerry LaFlamme after the game and was barred from hockey for life, but later reports claimed Charley Adams, Bruin owner, as the attacker.

Most of the times, however, the attacks were only verbal and of a personal nature for the purpose of inciting feuds in print. No question about the response either, for the papers and radio commentators ate it up and box offices were kept busy filling the demand for tickets to the games. I don't believe too many hockey fans or any of the press really adopted many of the feuds as bona fide but they certainly contributed to the popularity of the sport at the time.

In those days hockey games at Boston, New York and Chicago were sell-outs night after night. I doubt that any attempts to resume those paper feuds would attract a single ticket buyer, but they were lively in pose.

With Ross gone and Smythe going, Jack Adams has no one left to fight with and hockey will have to rely on just plain hockey for public attention.

Why We Call It "Portland"

Portland cement is the most important part of every concrete sidewalk, highway, bridge, building—anything you see that is made of concrete. When it is soaked with water and allowed to dry, cement becomes as hard as some stone. Mixed with sand and water, it becomes the mortar with which bricks are sealed together in building construction. Mixed with water, sand, and gravel or rock, it becomes tough and durable concrete. The cement was invented in 1824 by an Englishman, John Aspdin, who burned limestone and clay together and ground up the mixture into a fine powder. He called it Portland cement because, when hard, it resembles a type of building stone found on Portland Isle, England.

The Ontario Milk Producers Coordinating Board has made a recommendation to the different dairy groups in the province to levy 1½ per cent of the factory price of their production. These contributions are to be paid into a fund to be used for the stabilization of producer prices. The main purpose of this fund will be the subsidization of exports which have to be sold abroad at lower than home market prices. Also included in the 1½ per cent deduction will be the June set-aside for the Dairy Farmers of Canada Advertising Fund and an unspecified share for a research fund. The amount so collected is estimated at somewhat more than two million dollars per year. As the Coordinating Board does not have powers to make decisions binding the different producer groups, the recommendation will come before the conventions of the producer organizations for discussion and consideration. Beauty Contest For Bald-Heads

Everybody living in a pleasant little town in Northern Italy stopped work one sunny morning recently to watch a number of the local workers converging on a restaurant in the main street.

Every member of the procession was a man and each wore his best Sunday suit and a black top hat. Into the restaurant they filed and sat solemnly at a long table, still wearing their hats. A bell was rung for silence.

Then, at a given signal, the men slowly lifted their hats and laid them on the table, each revealing a shining bald head. The men were there so that a jury could decide who possessed the town's finest and most attractive bald head. The winner of the $300 prize proved to be Signor Pasteglio, a road sweeper, whose success was very popular with the admiring spectators. But he only won by a hair—the little hair which one of the jury had spotted growing over the left ear of his nearest rival. The runner-up was awarded a consolation prize, which he promptly handed to his wife, saying: "You can find better use for it than I can." It was a comb.

.. PLAIN HORSE SENSE ..

By F. (BOB) VON PILIS

The Ontario Milk Producers Coordinating Board has made a recommendation to the different dairy groups in the province to levy 1½ per cent of the factory price of their production. These contributions are to be paid into a fund to be used for the stabilization of producer prices.

The main purpose of this fund will be the subsidization of exports which have to be sold abroad at lower than home market prices.

Also included in the 1½ per cent deduction will be the June set-aside for the Dairy Farmers of Canada Advertising Fund and an unspecified share for a research fund.

The amount so collected is estimated at somewhat more than two million dollars per year.

As the Coordinating Board does not have powers to make decisions binding the different producer groups, the recommendation will come before the conventions of the producer organizations for discussion and consideration.

Ministerial Approval Needed

If the scheme is accepted by the producers in full or in part, the matter is referred back to the Coordinating Board and each association has to petition the Minister of Agriculture for its approval. It is then in the discretion of the minister to bring the scheme before the cabinet to have it enacted by Order-in-Council, or if he considers it as not desirable or necessary to reject it.

One association already has approved the plan, although leaving open the extent to which they will participate. The others will discuss it within the next few weeks.

General Approval In view of the wide spread discontent of dairy farmers with prices and marketing conditions, the plan should find general approval as a first step towards a more stable and orderly marketing of milk and milk products. Any discussion is likely to center around the extent of participation and amounts to be collected.

All too often farmers are apt to be penny wise, and pound foolish as the controversy that is raging around the hog marketing scheme is proving, where a 20 cents per hog deduction is a bone of contention.

Important Considerations Only by cooperating, individually and collectively, can farmers prosper and assert their place in an economy which is ruled by Bigness. Being human we are all subject to errors and mistakes, but can learn and progress by experience.

The recommendation of the Coordinating Board is sound in principle. It should be taken to the national level though, lest Ontario carry the burden for the whole country and become a most lucrative market for the surpluses of the other nine provinces.

Lastly but not leastly an explanation is needed why all the important decisions rest with the provincial government if it does not contribute to the scheme. If Ontario farmers want to produce milk for sale abroad at lower prices and want to raise funds to spread the difference evenly over the group as a whole, the decision is theirs and not the government's.

Let's beware of paternalism in government.

Invention Ideas and Their Origin

There are countless gadgets and devices founded on simplicity itself. Take the crinkly hairpin, for example.

The inventor who thought this one up, explains Professor A. M. Low in his enlightening and interesting book "Thanks To Inventors" was spurred to activity by his wife complaining of the number of hairpins lost by falling out. His answer was a hairpin with waves in the arms.

It was only fifty-odd years ago that carpets were mechanically cleaned by beating. At the beginning of the century a new invention was introduced from America whereby a powerful blast of air blew dirt from the carpet into a container fitted above the nozzle. Some of the dust escaped the trap and settled back on the carpet.

H. Cecil Booth watched the process, and then thought up a better idea. Why not reverse the procedure — suck instead of blow? His completed vacuum cleaner, chiefly consisting of an electrically driven fan to induce a partial vacuum, was mounted on a van and driven round to houses, the hose being run out to rooms where the carpets were.

Inventions can involve a great amount of thought and candle-burning; but it often happens that chance, too, brings something out of the bag.

Thomas Blanket watched an article come from his loom entirely different from what was expected of it. The weaving loom was at fault; but Blanket thought "this is not what we are trying to make, but for a different purpose it might be better than anything else."

From thoughts sprang actions; and the answer was the blanket.

High up on the list of public benefactors is George Stephenson, the creator of Britain's railways. This brilliant engineer, although he did not originate the steam locomotive, used other inventions and improved them so completely as to make them peculiarly his own.

Even in his early days, while he was being paid twopenny a day for minding cattle, young Stephenson displayed his aptitude for construction, spending some of his spare time in making miniature mining engines.

He knew that to get on he must be able to read and write, so for three nights a week, after doing a twelve-hour shift, he attended night-school at one penny a night. On his nineteenth birthday, states John Rowland, in an inspiring and comprehensive biography, "George Stephenson" he could scrawl his name.

Stephenson's first big chance to prove his worth came when a new pit was to be sunk at Killingworth. A great problem of the times was the difficulty of preventing water seeping into the workings. A pumping-engine designed by the engineer Smeaton proved a failure.

George's forthright opinion of the machine was such that the management asked if he could put matters right. "I could alter her and make her draw; in a week's time you would be at the bottom of that pit." He was given the job.

At the end of the three days of concentrated labour the machine — looking as if it had been tied together with pieces of string — was ready to be started up. In two days the shaft was free of water; at the end of the third day men were working at the bottom in comparatively dry conditions.

Midgets Win In Overtime

A thrilling game of hockey was enjoyed Monday night at the local arena when Stirling Midgets edged Campbellford 8 to 7 in overtime.

Munro opened the scoring for Stirling at the three minute mark on an assist from Hubel. Bird added to this two minutes later with Munro assisting. Billen scored for Campbellford at the 12 minute mark with Collins assisting, to be followed shortly by a Stirling goal by Austin with Ingram and Reynolds getting the assists.

Three penalties were handed out by referees Vandervoort and Utman. Boarding and slashing penalties were handed out to Ingram and Reynolds respectively and for Campbellford, Bland received a high-sticking penalty.

Billen narrowed Stirling's lead early in the second period on an assist from Beatty, while later Ingram scored for Stirling, with Kemp assisting. Campbellford roared back in the last three minutes of the period to take the lead 5 to 4 on a goal by McAtthen and two by Billen. Austin received the only penalty of the period for slashing.

Reynolds tied the score early in the third period, followed five minutes later by a goal by Ingram, to give the locals a 6-5 edge. Play tightened until Campbellford rapped in two quick goals by Bland. However, with a very few seconds remaining, Bird scored for Stirling, to tie up the score. Overtime

The teams remained deadlocked in the overtime period, until with less than three minutes left to play, Ingram scored what proved to be the winning goal, with Reynolds receiving the assist, to make the final count 8 to 7.

Stirling Midgets will be hosts to Brighton on Friday night of this week and Havelock on Monday next.

Stirling Chamber of Commerce Annual Dinner Meeting Successful

Annual Meeting Held Mon.
Night In Community Hall
— Good Reports Presented

The annual dinner meeting of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce was held in the Community Hall on Monday night with over fifty in attendance. Members of Laurel Rebekah Lodge, No. 211, served a delicious dinner and many fine compliments were heard on the excellent cuisine.

Following the dinner and toast to the Queen, President E. D. Ketcheson welcomed the members and visitors and introduced the head table guests.

The Secretary's report by R. D. Patterson, showed a heavy year's work accomplished by this officer.

President's Report

President E. D. Ketcheson reported on Chamber of Commerce activities for 1954 under the following headings:

Industry —

Advanced work with Trent Cotton Co. on their local land purchase was completed. The present outlook for further expansion is not good until the textile industry picks up. He stated that plans for the Stirling development will get first priority when the textile industry improves.

A delegation was sent to the International Trade Fair where good contacts were made.

Brochures on "Stirling" were distributed to interested persons.

The delegation to Ontario Hydro Power Commission re the new location of the area office proved unsuccessful.

Mr. Ketcheson extended congratulations to the Elaine Footwear on moving into their new factory.

An investigation was conducted into the possibility of the installation of a warning device at the Campbellford Road railway crossing.

Local Building codes in Stirling and surrounding district were checked.

Commerce —

President Ketcheson stated that the Business Men's Association had to be changed to the Retail Section of the Chamber of Commerce.

Several meetings re store hours, holidays and local business problems were held during the year.

The Santa Claus Parade this year proved very successful. He also noted that many places of business had been improved and painted during the year.

General Work

Mr. Ketcheson reported that much time and effort had been spent obtaining and presenting facts and figures on sewerage. He also reported that much work was yet to be done. The Chamber of Commerce is anxious to see that the citizens of Stirling are well informed in the matter before they decide for or against sewerage.

Mr. D. W. Rodgers, Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce, introduced Mr. Harold "Dinty" Moore, Manager of the Bank of Montreal, Perth. Mr. Moore expressed his pleasure in returning to Stirling after several years' absence. He congratulated Stirling on its progress and particularly its Chamber of Commerce.

Guest Speaker

Mr. Moore, in turn, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. R. W. R. Hughes of Perth. Mr. Hughes is the manager of the National Unemployment Office in Perth, President of Perth Chamber of Commerce, and a Director of Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Hughes brought greetings from the Perth Chamber of Commerce. He remarked that Perth and Stirling had much in common with Scotch names and Empire Loyalists forefathers.

Mr. Hughes chose as his topic, "Canada and Canadians". He stated that Canada was the greatest country in the world, settled and developed by immigrants. He suggested that when we are tempted to criticize the present D.P.'s let us remember that our forefathers were also immigrants. The speaker went on to say that only a few real money in any country is produced only by work. Too many Canadians have forgotten how to work.

59th Wedding Anniversary

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Todd, of Campbellford, who will observe their fifty-ninth wedding anniversary on Saturday, January 29th.

St. James Women's League

The January meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held at the home of Mrs. Philip McAvoy. The President, Mrs. Frank Long, opened the meeting with the League Prayer. The Secretary, Miss Alice O'Donnell, gave the minutes of the last meeting. Treasurer, Mrs. Roy LaChapelle, gave the financial report.

The main business was the final preparations for the social evening at Ivanhoe Town Hall. It was decided that the League would subscribe to the Catholic Women's League magazine, and also get League pins.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Uniacke. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served.

Scoutmaster Training Course

A very successful Scoutmaster Training Course was held at the local High School on Friday and Saturday of last week. Eighteen leaders were present from Trenton Airport, Campbellford, Havelock, Marmora and Stirling. J. Irish, Art Davies and Art Jackson were the instructors. David Duffin gave a talk on "Badge Work". The course covered all the work from the Tenderfoot Scout to the Queen Scout, with the leaders cooking their own dinner outside.

In Canada, today, labour thinks only of more pay and shorter hours and capital thinks only of the balance sheet. Canadians lack a pride in workmanship and have sacrificed quality for quantity.

Mr. Hughes said that the honeymoon of easy money was over. While he foresaw no depression, he stated that in the next few years we must undergo an adjustment period. Businessmen must study their markets and inventories and farmers must cut their production costs.

Many Freedoms

In Canada we have many freedoms not known in Europe, which we should appreciate. We should aim for increased population by selective immigration and favour more United Kingdom immigrants. He hoped by 1975 that Canada's population would be at least twenty-five million. Canada will be a greater country if we use common sense in making it so.

Mr. Hughes told of his travels in Europe, where Canadians were highly respected and remarked that Canadians should be proud of their heritage. In closing, he noted how much more we have than our immigrant forefathers, and that we all should love, honor, work and die for Canada.

Mr. J. V. Holt voiced his thanks on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce for the outstanding address by Mr. Hughes, and all who had a part in making the evening a success.

The thanks of the Chamber of Commerce to the ladies of Laurel Rebekah Lodge for the fine dinner was ably voiced by President Ketcheson.

Election of Officers

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President — E. D. Ketcheson

Vice President — D. W. Rodgers

Secretary — R. D. Patterson

Treasurer — J. F. Fillion

Committees:

Industry — J. V. Holt, C. E. West,

R. B. Bell, H. E. Cooke.

Members of River Valley Woman's Missionary Society have just cause for pride in the splendid service for which they were responsible on Sunday evening, January 23rd, at St. Paul's United Church. These evening services have been of a high order and a striking success, each well attended and admirably arranged. On Sunday last, with a choir of thirty and a great congregation, the "Valley" will feel highly favoured.

With quiet dignity and a sense of worship, Mrs. E. Carr, President of the Society, conducted the proceedings. The prayers were most carefully presented by Mrs. Roy Bush, and the sermon by Mrs. Arthur Packman. The latter, taking the words of the Prophet "Sound the Trumpet," was splendidly adapted to the main thought of the hour. Mrs. Packman also spoke words of appreciation for the fine work done by the River Valley Society.

The anthem by the choir was most enjoyable as was the quartette by Messrs. W. Lindenfield, Bob Philip, Reg. Coombes and Jack Bush. Grace Heasman played the organ and the Lesson was read by Mrs. Ed. Heasman.

89th Anniversary

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Hiram Ashley, Madoc Junction, who will celebrate the 89th anniversary of his birthday, on Friday next, January 28th.

St. Paul's Woman's Missionary Auxiliary Elects Officers For Year

St. Paul's United Church Missionary Auxiliary met for the first meeting of the New Year in the Sunday School room on the afternoon of January 11th. Quiet music brought order and Mrs. Carlisle, president, read a New Year message in verse, followed by prayer.

Installation of the 1955 officers was conducted by Dr. Packman, who afterward addressed his audience in words most helpful and inspiring. Mrs. Packman had charge of the devotional exercises. Her talk was based on the theme — "Let Your Light So Shine". Assisting Mrs. Packman were Mrs. D. Luery, who read the Scripture lesson; Mrs. E. Eggleton, who offered prayer; Mrs. W. Wilkins, who sang the ancient Irish hymn by Eleanor Hull, "Be Thou My Vision, O Lord of My Heart".

Mrs. Packman illustrated her subject by telling the story of Polly, the little kitchen maid who, as she polished the spoons and forks, sang the gospel hymn, "Brighten the Corner Where You Are". Polly's singing set the members of the household to thinking, and finally to wondering if they were brightening a corner near them. As understanding came to them, so others with whom they came in contact learned what it meant to "Brighten the Corner Where You Are". And thus the influence of Polly's singing reached out like the ripples on water when a stone is cast in a pool.

With the new officers in their chairs, Mrs. Carlisle proceeded with the business of the meeting. The Recording Secretary gave in review the highlights of the year's work.

The department secretaries presented their work in interesting reports. Our duty and privilege as members was brought before us each month by the Christian Stewardship secretary. Temperance Education, Social Welfare, Racial Brotherhood, were the subjects stressed by the secretary of Christian Citizenship.

A great deal of supply work was done in the way of quilts, knitted articles and sewing, which included our Home Supply work, also Overseas Relief. The Community Friendship secretary reported 244 house calls and 27 hospital calls made during the year. The Literature secretary set up an Auxiliary Library made

D.D.G.M. Visits Stirling Lodge

Rt. Wor. H. B. McConnell, of Brighton, On Official
Visit — Banquet Held

Thursday evening marked a red letter date for Stirling Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 69. It was the occasion of the official visit of the District Deputy Grand Master, Rt. Wor. Bro. Hubert McConnell, of Brighton, Ont.

The activities of the evening began with a delicious banquet served by the ladies of Salem United Church in Stirling Community Hall at 7 p.m. There were about one hundred and fifty present. Visitors were noted from Belleville, Trenton, Brighton, Marmora, Havelock and other points.

The customary toast to Grand Lodge was proposed by Rt. Wor. Bro. E. A. Carleton. In his response to this toast, Rt. Wor. Bro. Hubert McConnell congratulated Wor. Bro. Walter Warren, Wor. Master of Stirling on the excellent arrangement and superb banquet as served by the ladies from Minto. He remarked that a very fitting name for these ladies would be "Mothers of Salem" for the great banquet and for the ease with which it was served.

Rt. Wor. Bro. McConnell took for the subject of his address, "Our Belief in the Existence of a Supreme Being, pointing out that it is the foundation of Christianity and the most important fundamental of our whole "Masonic Structure". His treatment of the subject was very inspiring and instructive. During the evening the two little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Broadworth rendered two duets accompanied at the piano by Master Harold Saries.

Wor. Bro. C. A. Wells moved a hearty vote of thanks to the "Mothers of Salem" for their delicious banquet. Mrs. Harold Holden made a suitable reply.

Bro. R. A. Patterson led in community singing, accompanied by Mrs. H. West. The gathering repaired to the Masonic lodge room, where under the guidance of Wor. Bro. Walter Warren and his officers a degree in Masonry was conferred.

Wor. Bro. McConnell warmly congratulated the officers of the lodge on the excellence of their work.

Rt. Wor. Bro. McConnell was accompanied on his visit by Wor. Bro. Solomon, District Secretary and Bro. Rev. P. J. Hommerson, District Chaplain.

ANNE HIRST

Your Family Counselor

"Dear Anne Hirst: I'd like to question a reader asked lately: 'Why do men today prefer cheap girls?' (It's the second time I've seen such a query in your column).

"Men who seek out cheap girls are cheap themselves. They pick up the trait from companions they're thrown with, perhaps in the armed forces. They get bored with the life, and some think they can find release in a bottle of booze. It doesn't work out that way.

"Too many citizens think service men are mostly drunks. Here's one that isn't. I've been in the service 10 years, and I haven't found the girl I want to marry yet. Maybe I want too much?

"I want a girl who can cook and keep house, who isn't bad to look at—and not a bar-fly. As for liquor, I hardly touch the stuff. . . . I work in the medical department of the Air Force.

SERGEANT
• Not only in the service, but in all walks of life a man can pick up traits from those with whom he associates. The man of character chooses as his friends men of the same type; the weakling with no moral or intellectual resources follows where other such men guide him—and then blames them for his lapses.
• The same rule applies when men date girls. As you soundly put it, a cheap man likes cheap girls. Others (like yourself) accept no such substitute, and they refuse to allow the routine of their duties to bore them. While they wait for the right girl they take advantage of the extra studies and decent entertainment the service offers.

• Stick to your standards, soldier. And remember that when you do meet the girl you are seeking, you will know how to appreciate her, and she will get a real man.

• TO YOUNG READERS:
• Please do not write for this young man's name or address. I cannot reveal either, nor can I forward any letters.

FRANCIS YOUNG MOTHER
"Dear Anne Hirst: I had a baby, and its father deserted me. Later, I married a man who promised he would be good to my child. . . . He has broken his word in every way there is. He mistreats the child so that the baby is afraid of him. Because of this we quarrel all the time. He has a bad temper, and has even struck me. He never takes me anywhere, either.

"The baby was with me at my mother's until I got married. (My parents have been wonderful. . . . I hoped so much for a good home for both of us, but after seven months of marriage I'm ready to give up. RITA"

• Go back to your parents.
• Your father will find out whether you have grounds for divorce.

• There seems no future for you and the baby with this man—and of course your first responsibility is toward your little son. He must grow up in a secure home where love abounds. Your mother's home is the only present refuge that can provide that.

To Soldiers: If you are waiting for the right girl, associate with people who hold the same ideals; you won't have to wait so long. Anne Hirst served in the first World War and was the confidante of many a lonely soldier overseas. Tell her your troubles, addressing her at Box 1, 123 Eighteenth St., New Toronto, Ont.

They Live To Dance

Living happily on Bali, a lovely island-paradise in the Dutch East Indies, are some of the world's most beautiful women—the golden-skinned Balinese dancing girls who have large, dark expressive eyes and thick, black, glossy hair.

They and their good-looking menfolk are natural dancers. The slender, graceful Balinese women with their shapely hands and feet, dance as often as they can. But they also work hard.

The Balinese are always celebrating something, feasting and dancing for hours on end and loving every minute of it.

One of their most wonderful dances illustrates the eternal triangle. It is the Demon Dance in which a lovely Queen is torn from the hero's admiring side and made captive by a demon.

She is rescued through the valour of the man who, dressed to resemble a monkey, fights the demon and dances off triumphantly with his lovely partner.

A year or so ago a company of Balinese dancers and instrumentalists visited the West, enchanting audiences in Britain, the United States and elsewhere.

The story of the tour, and its preparation—an undertaking of many vicissitudes—is graphically and beautifully illustrated in "Dancing Out of Bali," by Jonh Coast.

CHRONICLES OF GINGER FARM

by Gwendoline D. Clarke

While Montreal and Ottawa were digging themselves out of the snowdrifts over the weekend we were experiencing rain, fog and slippery roads. But then there is no accounting for the weather these days—all over the world it is as unpredictable as it can be. So, in our own locality I suppose we should at least be thankful when the weather is good and make the best of it when it is bad. Anyway, now that we are into the new year there isn't the same urgency about the things we have to do and get. . . . no Christmas shopping; no extra special food for the table; no presents to buy. And while we couldn't do without Christmas there is something equally nice in getting back to normal, everyday living conditions, especially when we have nice, warm thoughts in our hearts—about the unexpected kindnesses, and the lovely cards and letters that came our way during the festive season. At least that's how we feel at Ginger Farm—and we would be most ungrateful if we felt any other way.

And now there are several months of winter weather ahead. This is the time that used to be spoken of as 'the long winter evenings'—the 'shut-in time' when the women supposedly got all kinds of work done—sewing, knitting, quilts and hooked rugs. But now, for those who have the health, strength and opportunity of getting out, there isn't any shut-in time at all. Instead it is a period when conventions are popping up all over the place; farm organizations of every kind having their annual get-togethers, with delegates attending from every district in Ontario, many of them having representatives of both sexes.

And what will they discuss? Farm problems, of course. Low prices, high production costs, shortage of farm labour, value of increased efficiency, farm management, weed eradication, the new Dairy Products Act, need for increased world markets, the comparative merits of the Federation of Agriculture and the Farmers Union. There will be discussions as to when, where and why women should take an active part in all these affairs; the value of Farm Forums and the need for increased membership; the menace of margarine, the co-operative movement, hospitalization and various other types of insurance. There will be hundreds of meetings all told, counting committee meetings and general sessions. There will probably be a great number of delegates and hundreds of dollars spent on meals and accommodation. Some delegates will attend from a sense of duty, maybe at considerable inconvenience to themselves; others will be only mildly interested. Some will be fired with enthusiasm, lead discussions and make practical, worthwhile suggestions. Others will contribute little to the discussions—and bring away less—but at least they will have a good time!

And what will be the outcome of these conventions? Will the cause of Agriculture be in any way improved as a result of these meetings, discussion groups, resolutions and appeals for improved government legislation in various departments? We hope so—but that remains to be seen. It will be hard to assess the value of the time and money spent at these conventions unless, and until, we have concrete evidence by way of improved markets and a swing towards establishing parity prices.

Meanwhile, as the conventions are taking place the farmer back home will be getting on with his daily chores; looking after his cattle and taking pride in their good appearance. His interest is in the welfare of his stock and using to the best advantage the hay and feed stored for winter feeding. Maybe he spends more time at the barn than he should as there he is conscious of a sense of contentment in his work. Then he comes to the house for dinner, felling at peace with life. After dinner he looks over the papers. He ponders over the intricacies of the Dairy Products Act and realises once again that farming is now big business. It is no longer a way of life. He figures he should stop taking so much personal interest in his stock. That Bessie heifer, for instance, that he and Mary have babied along since she was born. She should be sent out—it isn't good business to keep her. There is no room for sentiment on the modern farm. And then he looks up from his paper. Now what's Mary so worked up about. Mary soon lets him know. "Henry—I wish to goodness you'd pay attention to what I'm telling you. Dear knows I've enough to do without you acting so off-hand, you know I'm going to the convention tomorrow!"

"And why do you have to go, my dear?"

"Henry, don't be so exasperating! You know I'm a delegate and on that panel discussion tomorrow—" "How Home Markets Might be Improved." You'll have to help me, Henry—I still have so much to do. I wish I hadn't said I'd go. But we farm women have to take an interest in these things or we might as well be in the dark ages."

"Yes," muttered Henry, "but I guess in the dark ages women didn't have high blood pressure."

"Henry . . . for goodness sake!"

"Now it all comes back to me," as the skunk said when the wind changed.

Right-to-Work Laws

As his title indicates, the secretary of labor is supposed to represent the interests of labor. Usually this means organized labor. So it is not surprising that Secretary of Labor Mitchell has denounced the states' right-to-work laws. . . .

So far as Arizona is concerned, the people of this state have repeatedly expressed their opinion on right-to-work legislation. They have voted for it three times, with increasing majorities each time.

Most people don't realize it, but Arizona laws also include what might be called right-to-work legislation in reverse. Under the so-called yellow-dog laws, passed many years ago, no one can be denied employment simply because of membership in a union. Under the right-to-work laws, passed more recently, no one can be denied employment simply because of non-membership in a union.

This, it seems to us, balances out the equation. It leaves up to the worker the question of whether he will join a union or not. It doesn't please those employers who would prefer not to have any unions and it doesn't please those unions that would like to make every worker join. — Arizona (Phoenix) Republic.

Tall Plants

Some seaweeds are the tallest plants to be found anywhere in the world. Seaweeds more than six hundred feet tall have been found in the ocean at the southern tip of South America. This height is greater than that of the tallest trees in the world—the giant sequoia trees of California and the eucalyptus trees of Australia. The Australian trees are rather taller than the American ones. One giant eucalyptus, measured after it had fallen, was 500 feet high. A giant sequoia tree called the Father of the Forest must have been 400 feet high at the time of its fall. By way of comparison, the height of the Statue of Liberty in the harbor of New York may help us to realize what monsters the giant seaweeds are. The top of the torch that Liberty bears aloft is just a little more than three hundred feet above the water line.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cairns and Teddy were present and Mr. Cairns showed a number of interesting slides. These were charming and delightful scenes caught by Mr. Cairns on his hunting and fishing trips, as well as group pictures of various well known families and groups.

The Junior Farmers' Quartette favoured again with two hymns, "My Jesus, I Love Thee", and "Have Thine Own Way".

Mr. Douglas Pyear gave a vote of thanks to the guests.

West Huntingdon United W.M.S.

The January meeting of United Church W.M.S. was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Sarah Wilson. The new president, Mrs. Frank Hammond, presided. Mrs. Mac Saries read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Sandy McCurdy offered prayer. The theme of the meeting was Evangelism. This was explained by the president. The roll call was answered by the word "Faith". Reports were received from auditors.

Mission Band, Baby Band and W.A. Mrs. George Cooke had charge of the study book.

Mrs. William Fitchett contributed a solo. Helpful readings were given by Mrs. George Ashley and Mrs. Sandy McCurdy. A former member, Mrs. John Jeffrey and Rev. C. R. Chapman were also present.

Following the benediction, lunch was served.

Scientific tests show that milk is one of the finest beauty aids available in food form, especially for clear complexion.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown

She saved three lives

It was early in the morning. Seeping coal gas fumes had all but overcome a little girl and two women in a suburban Toronto home. One of the women, Mrs. Mary Hague, struggled to the telephone and barely managed to dial "Operator" before collapsing.

Unable to get any response, the night operator, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, immediately notified the police. Within minutes the victims were reached and revived. Through her prompt action three lives were spared. Quick thinking in an emergency has made a heroine of many a Bell operator, for most people turn to the telephone for help in all kinds of trouble—often rely on the operator for assistance.

There may never come a time when you need the fire department, police, or a doctor in a frantic hurry—but isn't it a comfort to know that behind your telephone are people on wide-awake duty 24 hours a day?

River Valley Farm Forum

The River Valley Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sager with twelve present. The topic was "Bringing up farm families today as compared with 25 years ago." At present time older children attend school longer and many more go to High School. With modern conveniences, machine age and less help, the general attitude to life has changed a great deal.

According to a survey in 1952 of the future plans of eight hundred rural young people in Quebec, Ontario and Alberta, showed that for every four men who planned to farm in the future, there was only one girl who intended to stay on the farm. It will cost these young people as much or more to buy a house in the city as a good sized farm. Will they be as well off in the next twenty years?

Notes and Don't's

(By Rev. A. Packman)

When in another country, I have lectured on Canada and Canadians and have always been careful to say—"Canadians are essentially a practical people. They have had to be." I would go so far as to say that they have added to the Commandments this one — Don't make a fuss.

What I mean is this — when a car gets into a ditch, we don't make an analysis or trouble to discuss how it got into the ditch, we just drag it out. One night last week it took twelve husky men to "brung" mine out and I expect to be ribbed for the next six months as a consequence.

You would be surprised at the amount of advice I have had on how to drive a car on an icy road. One friend advised me to buy a pair of roller skates, sell the car, or walk to Carmel.

Now I don't mind all that, but what I do feel is that these happy boys have not analyzed the trouble. When I was up North we had no such problem as staying on the road, as a matter of fact, you could not get off the road for the snow banks on either side. You could wait along to your heart's content. The trouble, you see, down here is you have not enough snow.

No don't start praying for snow, I am merely stating a fact — not enough snow to keep me out of the ditch — so why blame me for getting into the ditch?

Speaking of ice, it was only recently that I voiced our praise for the Highway and road men for keeping us going . . . but, O boys, are we slipping!

However, don't take those Carmel boys too seriously — I was not the only one to find the dyke on my way home from one of the biggest and best of their Pie Suppers. Some of them ought not to look a pie in the face after this — but as I was saying, on my way home — driven this time by Charlie Davidson, I noticed places where at least six cars had tried to mount the dyke, all Carmel cars, I'll bet, I hope.

I mean to say, I hope they did not belong to the good friends who came all the way from Colborne to entertain us. The play, "Mama's Angel Child," was fine and a great crowd of people were there to see it.

We all regret very much the absence of Mrs. Frank Bailey. It's good to hear that, in spite of everything, she is game and courageous. Let's Sundays at Carmel have become an added pleasure because of the really lovely singing by the Junior Choir. There is talent among the youngsters at Carmel and Glen Ross and we want to encourage them to develop it. Just as the school concert some time ago was one of outstanding achievement, so may their singing be, under the able leadership of Mrs. Arthur Pyear.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

• Roger Bannister, first man to break through the one-mile 4-minute barrier, retired from competition in a manner which completely fitted a great athlete and a sportsman in the best British tradition. He said, as he announced his retirement from competitive foot-racing: "I could get little satisfaction now from a second-rate performance, and it would be wrong to produce a second-rate performance when representing my country."

So Bannister passes from the scene, but his memory will live long in athletic annals. Strangely enough, Bannister's Miracle Mile record of 3:59.4, the first ever run within four minutes, didn't last long enough to get printed in the record books that came out at the first of the year. The force of example is great in athletic competition, as in other things. For hardly had the amazed cheering which greeted Bannister's mighty feat died off into distant echoes, than Australia's John Landy further reduced the mark.

And so, in the matter of cold figures and stern printer's ink, the best Roger gets in these concise mathematical records is a place in the list of those who, over the years, carved another tiny chunk off the 4:19.4 set as an amateur record by George of England in 1884. The record books will so list him, but in the minds and memories of those who know their athletics, he will be recalled with awe for all time as the man who first cracked the barrier.

There are those earnest students of athletics who insist it was not necessarily due to any physical limitations that the four-mile was impossible to every generation of man before Bannister. These pundits say what balked them all was a mental barrier. What slowed them down was the weight of doubt that a mile in four minutes was humanly possible. We wouldn't know.

But we do know that, once Bannister removed the doubts, the achievement became possible for other men. Some of us, at least, shall live to see many accomplish what was impossible less than a year ago. And Bannister is the man who made it possible. He fought through both the mental and physical barriers that may have blocked great athletes before him.

And so, although cold figures in the recent record book put his feat in second place, he'll never be forgotten as the man who did it first. And also, we hope, as the man who retired definitely and sportingly rather than dabble in second-rate performances which would bring no credit either to himself or to his country.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

.. PLAIN HORSE SENSE ..

By F. (BOB) VON PILIS

This story starts in England over one hundred years ago. It was a time of great distress, known in history as the "Hungry 40s."

The weavers of Rochdale were in a terrible plight. Most of them were working for the unbelievable pittance of 45 cents a week. In the midst of plenty they had nothing but scarcity. They staged a strike and lost it, but they were not to be beaten.

The New Idea

In 1843 they were investigating and studying the possibilities of bettering their lives. They struck an idea that made them famous. They were already cooperating as producers in trade unions, but now they decided to reverse the procedure and start at the consumer end.

They would open a store and serve themselves. Other places would do the same. Through these stores they would go into wholesales, thence to the manufacturing, and finally to the ownership of land and raw materials. Thus they would become independent of the rest of the economic world.

They saw that whoever had control over the distributing and consuming end, would in time get control over the agencies of production too. They had a high philosophical motive. To use their own words, they were going to build a society in which they would proceed "to arrange the powers of production, education and government."

First Co-op Store

They devised their rules, the famous Rochdale principles. They would build a store which would pay back whatever money was made in the selling of goods and furthermore they would pay each in proportion to his loyalty and patronage. Thus, for the first time in history, was born a way by which business could be carried on without taking undue toll from human beings. Here at last was a mechanism that brought absolute justice into the economic field.

The Rochdale weavers' scheme was a plan of action for consumers who owned the store. In order to get this store they needed capital, and by super-human effort, over a whole year 28 weavers saved about $140. With this small amount they stocked their store with a meagre supply of oatmeal, tea, sugar and candles.

On December 21, 1844, they took the shutters down from their little store on Toad Lane amid the jeers and cat-calls of the village urchins.

The scheme worked, and in a short time Toad Lane became a great store and is today a shrine for co-operators from all over the earth.

In three years their membership was 1,850 and their capital $75,000, with a business turnover of $400,000. In 1933 the total membership of British Co-ops was over eleven millions and the volume of business well over 2,000 million dollars. The co-operatives are the largest private business organization in Britain.

WORLD CALENDAR—Sue Feit shows a new world calendar which is being considered by the UN. The calendar would divide the year into four quarters by 91 days each. An extra day called World Day would be added at the end of December, and during leap year, an additional day called Leap Day would be added to the end of June. The extra days, lettered "W," would be world holidays. In her left hand, Sue holds a month of 1582 calendar and a month of a 1752 calendar.

Rochdale Plan For All

While the Rochdale pioneers only partially realized their dream of getting land and raw materials, yet their ideas were taken up by primary producers all over the world. They have been the foundation upon which this great class of human beings have bettered their position.

Co-operative marketing and processing has been a universal result, but the great thing: the Rochdale pioneers did for primary producers was to give them the idea of the consumer approach and the technique of consumer cooperation.

In addition to being producers, these primary groups are also the world's greatest consumers. Indeed a common denominator of all men is that they are consumers.

The Rochdale plan that worked for industry applies even more powerfully to the primary producers.

ELEVATORS A-PLenty

The elevator contract for The Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal has been awarded the Otis Elevator Company Limited of Hamilton, Ont. E. A. Bromley, vice-president of purchases and stores for the Canadian National Railways, announced recently.

The new hotel contract calls for eight passenger and four service elevators, a dumbwaiter, two freight units and two escalators. Installation of these units will be made in accordance with progress of the work on the construction of the hotel which will be the largest in the British Empire.

Odd Street Names

When streets on new housing developments are named nowadays, quaint names are rarely chosen. They are named after battles, prime ministers, generals. It was different in our forefathers' time, when local authorities often delighted in choosing curious names for new thoroughfares.

Norwich has a Tombland, Bradford a Dole Street, Newcastle-on-Tyne a Two Ball Lane. For some reason a York street was named Whimphopma Gate. Perhaps because vagabonds were whipped there long ago. And a square in Hull has the intriguing name of The Land of Green Ginger.

Some years ago two East London streets with warlike names, Waterloo and Artillery, were incorporated and renamed Peace Street. A councillor once strongly objected to Great Yarmouth calling a thoroughfare Barkis Road, after the famous Dickens character. He said Barkis was "a drunken old rascal whose nose was red." The council, however, decided to retain the name of Barkis Road.

Petticoat Hole in Stockton got its quaint name from an old beguist left to provide undergarments every year for poor women.

A short cut to the docks in Cardiff was named Go Late. In the north of England two not particularly lovely streets used to be known as Paradise and Elysium.

Birdcage Walk in London was the aviary of Charles II. And Pall Mall stands where once fashionable Londoners played paillemaille, a croquet-like game. Constitution Hill marks the place where an early owner of the site once took his morning constitutional.

And for the tourist searching for quaintness, Norfolk provides the Land of Nod and Little Snoring. Or, if you're really hungry in your search, you must travel to Scotland to locate Tongue, Ham Sandwich, Christmas Pie and Devil's Beef Tub.

Some of these villages were named so long ago that no one now knows the reason why. They are all that is left of the sense of humour that prevailed in remote parts of the country in those far-off days.

TELEPATHIC DACHSHUND

Mr. Arent Ter Weeme, who lives in Pretoria, has a little dachshund called Kina who can count. Her master thinks telepathy, combined with a high degree of intelligence, is the explanation for Kina's uncanny mathematical ability.

When he shows Kina a sum, he is thinking of the answer, and Kina is able to sense what is in his mind. She gives the answer by barking the appropriate number of times.

Mr. Ter Weeme says: "Her ability is due to her own thinking, helped by my powers of suggestion. I must emphasize that I give no secret signs."

Children who come to see Kina, hold up their fingers. Mr. Ter Weeme is watching to what extent the constant repetition of sounds and figures has been impressed on her mind. But the way in which he will write a figure on a piece of paper, shows it to Kina, and she will bark out the answer is, to say the least, impressive.

Tin Of Sardines Brought New Husband

Pretty, blue-eyed Mrs. Norma Kersten, a slim Norwegian, had been married only five weeks when her husband died suddenly. It was a shattering blow to her happiness. It also meant that she must get a job at once, for nearly all the young couple's savings had gone to furnish their little flat.

The kindly manager of the sardine-packing factory where her husband had worked for some years came to the rescue. He offered the young widow her husband's job. She took it thankfully.

Weeks passed. Then when she arrived home one evening, Norma realized with a shock that her wedding ring was missing. It bore her and her husband's initials, intertwined.

Norma remembered that she was wearing the ring when she left for the factory that morning. A prolonged search at the factory and in the flat proved fruitless. The loss greatly worried her.

Six months passed. Then one morning the manager sent for her and showed Norma an astonishing letter which had arrived from a man living in far-off Sydney, Australia.

"Yesterday I went into a local shop and bought a tin of sardines which had been packed in your factory," he wrote. "When I opened it, I found a wedding ring inside with the sardines. It bore the engraved initials A. K. and N. K."

"I guessed that the ring might have belonged to one of your workers so I made a note of the factory address on the tin and decided to write this letter."

"If you can trace the owner and she proves to be a young widow—I have a strong hunch that she is—please tell her the ring is safe and I will return it. Ask her to write to me, enclosing her photograph. Perhaps I should add that I am young and a bachelor."

Anxious to get her ring back, the overjoyed girl complied with the young man's request. But she received no further letter.

The other day Norma was again called into the manager's office, and was surprised to see sitting there a sun-tanned, handsome young man—the finder of the ring.

He smiled pleasantly as he handed it to her. It was obvious that he had fallen in love with her at first sight.

That evening, when Norma's work was done, the pair met again. He proposed over a restaurant meal, and told her that he had come all the way from Sydney—about 12,000 miles—just to see her. "I knew from your photo that I would love you," he said.

Norma accepted him. They plan to marry in the spring.

She is probably the only widow in the world, who, by losing the wedding ring, given her by her first husband, found a second husband.

TREATMENT FOR ARTHRITIS PAINS DISCOVERED BY DRUGGIST

RELIEVES OWN PAINS FIRST

As Ontario druggist painfully hobbled around his store for months... using a cane. Tried almost everything in his drug store for relief of his arthritis pains; but the condition became worse!

Finally Tried a Mixture of Herbs

And it worked! The druggist figured that certain herbs, if mixed together, should help. He put one teaspoonful in a container, poured in a pint of boiling water, let it steep, then drank the liquid during the day. He kept this up for nearly twenty days hoping he was right. He was! Gradually his arthritis pains eased. He could bend his knee more freely. Then as the days passed his pains bothered him less and less. Finally after taking Edoren Herbs for a month or so, the pains entirely disappeared.

Other Arthritis Sufferers Test His Remedy

Many sufferers who knew the druggist were amazed at his vast improvement. They asked him what brought about the remarkable recovery. He answered "I've been taking Edoren". After years of tests with different arthritic persons, it was proved that Edoren Herbs definitely relieved arthritis pains in eighty-five per cent of the cases. The druggist has many testimonies for Edoren, including some from doctors.

Edoren Herbs Are Guaranteed To Relieve or Money Refunded in Full

There's a good chance that Edoren Herbs will help you if you are suffering from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism and sciatica. The best way to find out is to try the treatment faithfully. "THE NAKED JUNGLE"

ELEANOR PARKER

CHARLTON HESTON

(Color by Technicolor)

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson, Mr. and
Mrs. H. Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Blake
Faulkner, Mrs. P. MacMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Floud and Mr. and Mrs. Will Drewry, attended the funeral of the late Will Johnson in Stockdale United Church on Tuesday afternoon.

To do this we must have funds, and as the local group has never made a real drive, they will be calling at every house in Stirling during February. These boys will never get to another World Jamboree, as this is the first time it has ever been held outside of Europe.

River Valley W.I. Euchre Party

On Friday evening, January 21st,
River Valley Women's Institute sponsored a euchre party at the school house with thirteen tables in play.
Visitors were in attendance from Frankford, Wellman's, Stirling and Campbellford.

The prizes were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker and were awarded as follows: Ladies' high, Mrs. Cecil Frost, Frankford; ladies' low, Mrs.
Fred Smith, Campbellford; men's high, J. R. Donohoe; men's second, G.
B. Bedford. The door prize was won by Mrs. Ed. Heasman.

Scouting Pays But Scouting Costs

Do you know that there are 150,000 active Wolf Cubs, Boy Scouts, Lone Scouts, Rover Scouts and Rover Sea
Scouts in Canada. There are 15,500 volunteer scouters who give leadership to some 3,300 Cub Packs, 2,700
Scout Troops and 250 Rover Crews.
Canada has more and more communities asking for Scout groups because Canadians now know that Scouting is good for any community.
Scouting is the business of everyone in the community. When everyone gives, everyone benefits. To help maintain Scouting and to meet the modern demands for its expansion,
Scouting must be financially supported.

Stirling has 95 boys and five leaders in the movement. Two of the leaders are district leaders. Six business men form the local Group Committee, which look after the welfare of the group. Each year the group has to make a payment to the Provincial Headquarters to help overcome headquarter expenses.

World Jamboree
In Canada
This year the World Jamboree is to be held at Niagara-on-the-Lake. The committee is planning to take the troop for one day, with the boys paying part of the expenses. Two boys are already picked to attend, and it is hoped to be able to send two more boys. The group is also planning to pay the expenses of one boy from Europe, which will be $50.00, as the boys over there cannot bring money out of the country. Headquarters is asking each group to try and help finance a boy. If any organization would like to do this, they should contact
Bob Patterson or Dave Duffin.
